Dumfries & Galloway Courier

Birth, Marriage and Death Notices Transcribed by Diana Henry and Robert Wells

3rd January 1832

BIRTHS.

At Glenluce, on the 26th ultimo, Mrs M'Cracken, of a son.
At St. Andrews, on the 14th ultimo, the Lady of Professor Alexander, of a son.

MARRIAGES.

On Tuesday last, at St. Mary's Cottage, in St. Michael's Street, by the Rev. William Thorburn, Mr David Pagan, merchant, Maxwelltown, to Miss Catherine Crombie.
At Greenlaw, by Castle-Douglas, on the 26th ultimo, Mr John M'Pherson, baker, Castle-Douglas, to Mary Ann, eldest daughter of Mr Thomas Whitwright, gardener, Greenlaw.

DEATHS.

At Academy Street, on Wednesday, the 28th ultimo, Miss Margaret Loudon, late of Barcloy.
On the 28th ultimo, at his house, Claremont Street, Edinburgh, Alexander Johnstone, Esq., late of the Madras Medical Establishment- a native of Dumfries.
At Killylour, Irongray, on Tuesday last, James Cunningham, Esq. of Killylour, aged 68 years.
At Collin, on the 29th ult., Mr George Kerr, mason.
At Stranraer, on the 13th ult., Mr David M'Murtrie, student of Divinity. The deceased was an excellent scholar, remarkable for the gravity of his deportment from his earliest years, and for his deep but unostentatious piety. He has left behind him the savour of a good name, and is much lamented by all who knew him.
At Bank-head, near Lochmaben, on the 12th ultimo, after a lingering illness, the Rev. James Irving. Seldom has it been the duty of any journalist to record the death of a more amiable man, in his domestic character he was a perfect pattern of propriety, and in those distinguished families where he resided for years in foreign countries, as well as in his native land, his memory will long be cherished with sweet remembrance. He was a man of much research, and had a mind richly stored with scientific and classical knowledge.
Here, on the 28th ultimo, Mrs Margaret Boddan, wife of Mr Alexander Welsh, shoemaker.

17th January 1832

NO BIRTHS.

MARRIAGES.

At Newton of Anwoth, yesterday, by the Rev. Mr Turnbull, minister of that parish, Samuel Menzies, Esq., Provost of the burgh of Gatehouse-of-Fleet, to Miss Nicholas Carson, youngest daughter of the late Mr Alex. Carson, farmer, Lower Auchinlarie. At Closeburn Kirk, on the 23d December, by the Rev. Andrew Bennet, Mr Charles Hastings, mason, Thornhill, to Maria, daughter of Mr Thomas Bell, Maxwelltown.

At Gillhead of Morton, on the 23d December, by the Rev. David Smith, Mr James Wallace, weaver, Greenhead, to Janet, daughter of Mr Thomson, blacksmith, Durrisdeer.

At Auchmaiden, parish of Lesmahago, Lanarkshire, on the 12th inst., by the Rev. John Wilson, A.M., Mr Thomas Murray farmer in Causewayend, Penninghame parish, Wigtownshire, to Jessie, second daughter of Mr John Greenshields, farmer in Stewarton, parish of Sorbie.

At the parish church, Warrington, on the 9th instant, Mr Alexander Durham, tea-dealer, of Latchford, to Jane, daughter of Captain Yates, of the Old Quay Manchester and Warrington Packet.

DEATHS.

Here, on the 10th current, Lieut. Charles Armstrong, R.N.

At Burnfoot of Clouden, Holywood, on the 13th inst., Janet Walker, aged 80, relict of the late John Stott. She was esteemed in life, and died sincerely regretted.

At Gatehouse-of-Fleet, on the 14th instant, suddenly aged 15 years, Samuel James Irving, youngest son of the late James Irving, Esq., surgeon, St. James's Jamaica; he was a youth of great promise, and his death is very deeply lamented.

At Lockerby, on the 8th instant, William Pool, Esq., merchant there, aged 77 years.

At Laigh Borgue, on the 11th current, much lamented, after a lingering illness, which she bore with great fortitude and resignation, Isabella, aged 22 years, eldest daughter of Mr Thomas Haining.

At Chaple, near Moffat, on the 14th inst, Mr William Johnstone, at the extraordinary age of 99. This patriarch was universally beloved, and throughout his career he conducted himself to the world in a manner that caused honesty and uprightness to be always associated with his name.

On the 10th instant, Martha Nicholson, daughter of Mr William Richardson, distiller, Liverpool, aged nine months.

At Kirktonhill, on the 8th instant, Mr Archibald Graham, at the advanced age of 81, after a short illness, having for fifty-two years discharged the arduous duties of schoolmaster of Westerkirk. Mr Graham was an excellent Latin teacher, having a more thorough knowledge of the structure and modifications of that language than most, if not any, of his professional brethren in the rural districts of Scotland.

24th January 1832

BIRTHS.

At Newton-Stewart, on the 14th current, Mrs Daniel M'Laurin, of a son.

MARRIAGES.

At New Cumnock, on the 17th instant, by the Rev. Mr Craig, Mr Thomas Rae, Heathery Hall, or Raefield, to Miss Willie Gray, Joppa.

On Wednesday last, at St. James's by the Rev. William Jackson, B.D., James Hannay Watson, Esq. of Tangier-street, to Jane, only daughter of the late Captain Henry Ward, of Whitehaven.

DEATHS.

On the 17th current, at Barnhill, Terregles, in the prime of life, Mr William M'Kenzie, farmer there, much regretted.

Here, on the 15th current, after a short illness, in the flower of her age, Marion Kelton, Waterfoot, by Annan – a young lady of the most amiable dispositions, and whose memory will long be cherished, and held in deep remembrance by her distressed relatives and friends.

At Midtown of Kirkmichael, on the 9th current, deeply lamented by friends and relatives, Mr James Lindsay, surgeon, aged 39 years.

At Annan, on the 17th current, of small pox, Benjamin, infant son of Mr John Nicholson.

At Thornhill, on the 10th current, Mrs Reid, relict of Mr Robert Reid, late merchant in Thornhill, much respected, and deeply regretted.

At Moffat, on the 17th current, Adam Amos, Esq., aged 89 years, a longevity rarely allotted to the human race. The demeanour of the deceased through life was guileless, circumspect, and unassuming; as a member of the community, he was always ready to contribute to every institution of public utility – a liberal benefactor to his relatives – a friend to the friendless – and long after his earthly remains have returned to their primitive dust his memory will be revered.

Very suddenly, at Hawick, on the 15th curt., Mr Robert Hay, of the Crown Inn there – much and deservedly esteemed.

At Sanquhar, on the 19th instant, William Gall or Gow, far advanced in the vale of years. The deceased earned his slender livelihood by selling pamphlets about the country; he belonged to Perth, and was a dyer by trade.

At Chislehurst, Kent, on the 4th inst., aged 58, John Martin, Esq. of Lombard Street, banker, and Member of Parliament for the borough of Tewkesbury.

At Kilmalica, in Argyleshire, on the 16th December, Captain Robert Stewart, representative of the ancient and noble family of Appin. He was descended in the male line from the Lords of Lorn. The family lost their extensive patrimony, in consequence of the misfortunes which involved their House after the battle of Culloden, in which they had taken a distinguished part.

At New Orleans, in his 88th year, Pierre Lacroix, probably the last soldier who served under Montcalm, the best general of the French, who, with a superior force, defended Quebec against Wolfe, when they both fell on the field of battle. Lacroix was then twelve years of age, a drummer in one of the French regiments.

31st January 1832

BIRTHS.

At Greencroft, Annan, on the 22^d curt., Mrs Captain William Benson, of a daughter.

At Ecclefechan, on the 26th instant, Mrs James Muirhead, King's Arms Inn, of a son.

At 46, Irish-Street, Dumfries, on the 24th instant, Mrs Grace Crichton, spouse of Mr Robert Watt, ironmonger.

Here, on Saturday se'ennight, Mrs Goldie Wilson, wife of Mr William Bell, tanner, aged 67 years – she lived beloved, and died much lamented by all who had the pleasure of her acquaintance.

At Glenhill, Irongray, on the 18th current, Mr James Wright, son of Samuel Wright, Esq. of Bonerick.

At Tinwald Downs, on the 23d curt., Helen Gibson, relict of Mr Thomas Smith, late in Tinwald Parks, aged 72 years.

At Gatehouse-of-Fleet, on the 24th instant, Mrs Margaret Campbell, wife of Mr John M'Millan, grocer there, much respected.

On the 24th current, at Mosstower, Roxburgh-shire, Mr James Church, sen., farmer.

At Bally-Castle, on the 8th instant, Mr George Welsh, assistant-surgeon of the Dumfries-shire miliita.

Suddenly, at New York, on the 25th ult., the Rev. John Jeffrey, formerly minister of the Reformed Congregation at Quarrelwood, in the parish of Kirkmahoe, and latterly of the Congregation in New York.

At Glasgow, on the 23d inst., in the 58th year of his age, John Graham, Esq., Superintendant of Police, and City Marshal.

On Saturday week, in Liverpool, aged 102, Mr Hugh Evans, tailor. He was a native of Anglesea, North Wales, and came over to Liverpool to make mourning at the death of George II., having been engaged for that purpose. He worked at his business till within the last 7 years.

7th February 1832

BIRTHS.

At Annan, on the 1st inst., Mrs William Forrest, of a daughter.

At Annan, on the 31st ult., Mrs John Montgomery, of a daughter.

MARRIAGES.

At Wigtown, on the 31st ult., by the Rev. Mr Young of Wigtown, John Babington, Esq., of the Hon. East India Company's Civil Service, Madras Establishment, and of Summerville, Dumfries-shire, to Jane, second daughter of the late Robert Couper, Esq., M.D., Wigtown.

At Conheath-House, Dumfries-shire, on the 2d February, by the Rev. Dr M'Morine, John Stevenson Bushnan, Esq., to Mary Farquhar, the daughter of James Connell, Esq. of Conheath.

At Edinburgh, on the 30th ult., by the Rev. Dr Peddie, Mr George Murray, Canobie, Dumfries-shire, to Margaret, daughter of the late Rev. John Jardine, to Janet Carruthers, youngest daughter of the late Rev. James Gray, chaplain to the Hon. East India Company at Bhooj.

DEATHS.

At Ruthwell Manse, on the 28th ultimo, Mrs Duncan, wife of the Rev. Dr Duncan.

At Dumfries, on the 31st ult., Mrs Anne Malcolm, relict of Mr Francis Maxwell, formerly town-clerk of Dumfries, in the 81st year of her age.

On the 25th ult., at Arundel, Troqueer, Miss Anne Smith, youngest daughter of the late Patrick Smith, Esq., Craigshaws.

Here, yesterday, Mr James Muir, aged 74.

At Scarbridge, near Penpont, on the 27th ult., the Reverend Thomas Rowatt, minister of the Reformed Presbyterian Congregation of Penpont, in the 64th year of his age, and 36th year of his ministry. – Character in our next.

At Collin, on the 31st ult., Mr Joseph Fisher, in the 26th year of his age, after a lingering illness.

At Lockerbie, on the 27th ult., Edward Armstrong, late of Hook.

On the 21st ult., at Torrs, near Kirkcudbright, Mr James Mactaggart, farmer, aged 74, who was highly respected by a large circle of friends and acquaintances, and whose death is generally lamented. He possessed an inborn kindness of disposition, uncommon natural abilities, peculiar shrewdness of observation, and fund of sterling ready wit, which was unequalled in the neighbourhood.

At Cunningholm, Closeburn, on the 3d instant, Mrs Jean Colvin, relict of Mr Archd.

Bennoch; formerly tenant in Nether Glenenny, at the advanced age of 89 years.

At Black-Craig, Minnigaff, on the 1st current, Robert, infant son of Mr James Beck, grocer, Newton-Stewart.

At St. Croix, on the 8th December last, where he had gone for the benefit of his health, Fergus Cochran, of the firm of Cochran and Brothers of New-York.

14th February 1832

BIRTHS.

At Manse, St. Michael's, on Saturday, Mrs Wallace of a daughter.

MARRIAGES.

At Maxwelltown, on the 31st ult., by the Rev, Mr Fyfe, Mr John Corrie, grocer, Holywood Village, to Miss Elizabeth Walker, of the former place.

At Ledburgh, Herefordshire, on the 30th December last, Mr Thomas Bland, formerly of Dumfries, to Miss Ann Prichard, of Ledburgh.

On the 31st ult., at Dumfries, Mr Thomas Wyllie, mason, of Liverpool, to Miss Blair, of Dumfries.

MARRIAGE IN HIGH LIFE. – On Tuesday morning, at St. George's Church, Hanover Square, Lord Viscount Marsham, (son of Earl Romney) to Lady Margaret Scott (sister of the Duke of Buccleuch). The Duke and Duchess of Buccleuch were present at the ceremony.

DEATHS.

At Gribton, on the 7th curt., Mrs Margaret Moffat, relict of William Boyd, Esq. of Marchhill.

At Mossknow, in this county, on the 6th curt., William Graham, Esq. of Mossknow, in his 76th year.

Here, on the 31st ult., Thomas, infant son of Mr Harkness, writer, George Street.

At Preston Mill, Kirkbean, on the 4th instant, Mr Alexander Walker, in the 76th year of his age; he lived respected and died regretted by all who knew him.

Here, on the 1st inst., Mary M'Lean, wife of Mr William Denniston, cabinet-maker, aged 36.

At Castle-Douglas, on the 7th instant, Jane Douglas, wife of William Young, Esq., Provost of that burgh. During a protracted, and frequently painful, illness, she maintained a placid resignation and patience, quite in unison with the amiability of heart and conduct which had eminently characterized her through life, and endeared her to all her friends.

At the manse of Tundergarth, in Annandale, on the 10th curt., the Rev. Richard Paxton, minister of that parish.

At Newton-Stewart, on the 4th curt., Mr Alexander M'Guffog, cabinet-maker, after a long illness, which he endured with the resignation of a Christian.

At Edinburgh, on the 31st ult., Alexander, sixth son of the late Rev. Daniel Struthers, Waterbeck.

At Whinnyhall, Fifeshire, on the 3d instant, Lieutenant Angus Macdonald late of the 92d regiment. This gentleman held the colours of his regiment at the battle of Waterloo, till disabled by his wounds, from which he ever afterwards, down till his death, severely suffered.

At London, on the 6th instant, in the 74th year of his age, Joseph Shepherd Munden, Esq., (the facetious Joe Munden,) formerly of the Theatre Royal, Covent-garden and Drury-lane.

21st February 1832

NO BIRTHS.

MARRIAGES.

Here, yesterday, by the Rev. Dr Duncan, Mr Robert Jardine, merchant, to Miss Margaret Kemp.

On Tuesday, the 14th instant, at Wigan, John Latham, Esq., surgeon, to Margaret, youngest daughter of the late Robert Marsden, Esq., merchant, Wigan.

On the 10th inst., by the Rev. Dr Colvin, of Johnstone, Mr William Thorburn, joiner, Johnstone Mills, to Miss Agnes Halliday, daughter of the late Mr John Halliday, tenant in Kirkhill.

At Sanquhar, on the 13th inst., by the Rev. Thomas Montgomery, Mr Samuel Stewart, dyer, Crawick-mill, to Janet, daughter of Mr John M'Lean, Moffat.

DEATHS.

On Tuesday last, at St. Mary's, Newabbey, the Rev. James Carruthers, Incumbent of that Charge, and for many preceding years of the Catholic Chapel in this town. Born on the estate of Kirkconnell, in this neighbourhood, he had the advantage in his younger years of being the pupil of these distinguished teachers, Wait, Butterworth, and Dinwoodie, in the Dumfries schools, and afterwards prosecuted his philosophical and theological studies at the Scots College of Douay. For 45 years he was the active and diligent pastor of different Roman Catholic Congregations in the north and south of Scotland. The spare hours of his latter life were devoted to the compilation of a portion of the History of Scotland, of which he had published 3 volumes – the last, embracing the eventful period of Queen Mary, being scarcely from the press when he fell into that illness which has ended in his death. He was a man of cultivated and liberal mind, of considerable talent and information, of a very benevolent heart, and of a warm but enlightened piety. At Maxwelltown, on the 15th curt., Joan Carlyle, wife of the late Walter Bell, Esq. of Netheralbie, Dumfries-shire, aged 86.

Here, on the 13th current, Mr James Dickson, farrier.

Here, suddenly, on Saturday last, Mr Thomas Watson, stone-cutter, in the 55th year of his age.

At Collin, on the 17th curt., John, aged one year, son of Mr John Cunningham, surgeon.

At Dunnabie, on the 13th inst., Matthew, only son of John Muncey, Esq. of Haregills.

At Corncockle Muir, on the 17th instant, May M'Vicar, wife of Mr John M'Donald.

At Mr John Craik's Galloway Arms Inn, Newton-Stewart, on the 13th curt., in consequence of the bursting of a blood-vessel, Mr William M'Cutcheon of Manchester, aged 27 years.

On the 10th instant, Margaret Black, aged 75 years, widow of Robert Conchie, Rosshill, Dunscore.

At Glasgow, on the 15th current, Miss Waltina Lawrie, daughter of Dr Andrew Simpson.

At Glasgow, on the 13th current, aged 14 months, James Haldane, son of H. Alexander, Esq., proprietor and manager of the Theatre-Royal.

At Craigieburn-wood, on the 12th current, Ann Bryce, aged 82, the confidential servant of the late Mr Riddick, wine-merchant, in whose family and that of his immediate predecessors, she resided for upwards of 60 years. In every respect the deceased was a type of the attached and faithful housekeepers of the olden time, and was held in great respect by all who knew her. Agreeably to a wish expressed on her death-bed, she was buried in Balmaclellan church-yard on the 17th curt.

At Ancrum Manse, on the 12th inst., the Rev. Thomas Campbell, minister of that parish. The Rev. George Crabbe, Rector of Trowbridge, at the Rectory House on the 3^d instant, in the 78th year of his age. This gentleman was the oldest living British bard, and has added to our national literature many poems of almost unequalled vigour and beauty. His delineations of humble and rural life and manners have seldom been equalled, & never excelled.

28th February 1832

BIRTHS.

At Hillowton, Castle-Douglas, on the 20th inst., the lady of Allan Bell, Esq., of a daughter.

At Hastings-hall, on the 22^d inst., Mrs M'Turk, of a son.

At Newington, Holywood, on the 21st curt., Mrs Joseph Colvin, of a daughter.

On the 19th instant, at Castle-Douglas, Mrs James Murray, of a son.

On the 15th curt., Mrs Neilson, wife of the toll-bar keeper at Newbridge, on the Muirkirk road, was safely deliverd [sic] of three fine boys, who with the mother, are all doing well.

MARRIAGES.

On the 22d instant, at Little Carleton, Borgue, Mr Alexander Brown, draper, Litchfield, Staffordshire, to Isabella, eldest daughter of the late Mr Thomas Martin, Boreland of Girthon.

At Rotchell, on Friday last, by the Rev. Wm. Thorburn, Mr John Edgar, miller, to Margaret, daughter of Mr Scott, innkeeper, Kirkbean.

On the 15th curt., by special licence, in Brunswick-Square, London, by the Rev. Charles Perring, Peter M'Gill, Esq., of Montreal, Member of the Legislative Council, Lower Canada, to Eliza, only daughter of John Shuter, Esq. of Hocomb-house, Hendon, one of his Majesty's Justices of the Peace, and Deputy-Lieutenant of the County of Middlesex. At Buckingham, Mr Samuel French, brazier and tinman, was married to Miss Tibbets of that place. As soon as the interesting ceremony was completed, the bridegroom drew from his pocket two brown holland bags tied with white ribbon, in one of which were 336 farthings, as a compliment to the clergyman, and in the other 168 as a fee for the clerk. They were all fresh from Brummagem, and had been got especially for the occasion.

DEATHS.

At Aldermanhill, on Sabbath evening last, Hannah Walker, daughter of Mr J. W. Hinchsliffe, jeweller, Dumfries, aged 24 years.

Here, on the 14th current, in the 21st year of his age, John, son of Mr Learmont, nurseryman and gardener, and apprentice to Mr William M'Gowan, writer. As a son he possessed every virtue – as an apprentice, was unsurpassed for accuracy, ability, and attention. Had his life been prolonged he would have become a most useful member of society, and in all probability an ornament of the legal profession. His premature death is a severe loss to his parents and employer, and is deeply regretted by all who knew him.

At Palmerston, Maxwelltown, advance in years, on the 19th current, Mr Adam Corson, for many years tenant of Cogshogle, an extensive sheep farm, the property of his grace the Duke of Buccleuch. The deceased was educated at Wallace-hall, & became a great proficient in classical learning. The study of Horace, Virgil, and Tacitus, formed the solace of his life, and within a few days of his last brief illness he officiated as private tutor to different young gentlemen attending the Academy. In mathematics and natural philosophy he was well skilled, and had devoted much of his attention to astronomy. In his walks he generally wore a grey plaid, and could have realized with ease in his own person the story of the shepherd conversing familiarly with a Bishop in Latin.

At Maxwelltown, yesterday Mr John Foster, baker, aged 27 years.

In St. Michael's Street, here, on the 16th curt., aged 31 years, Mrs Ann Dickie, wife of Mr Robert Neilson, spirit merchant.

After a long and painful illness, at the house of her son-in-law, 25, Heriot Row, Edinburgh, Mrs Graham, daughter of the hon. Colonel Gordon of Aboyne, and relict of William Graham, Esq. of Mossknow, whom she survived only sixteen days.

At Meikle Culmain, on the 20th curt., Mr William Fraser, aged 91 years.

At Gatehouse-of-Fleet, on the 19th instant, aged 71 years, Mrs Elizabeth Mactier, relict of the late Mr Peter Mactier, merchant there.

In the neighbourhood of London, Mr William Hetherington Norvel, eldest son of Mr John Norvel bookseller, Annan, formerly pay-sergeant in H.E.I. Company's artillery, St. Helena – a young man in the prime of life, greatly beloved by his officers, and all who had the pleasure of knowing him.

6th March 1832

BIRTHS.

Here, on the 29th ult., Mrs James Richardson, High-street, of a son.

At St. John's, New Brunswick, on the 9th December last, Mrs John Dunlop, of a son.

MARRIAGE.

At Edinburgh, on the 24th ult., Mr John Mason, surgeon, to Miss Winifred Carson, eldest daughter of Mr Wm. Carson, hosier, Dumfries.

DEATHS.

At the Manse of Hutton, Dumfries-shire, on the 23d ult., Mrs Margaret Armstrong, relict of the late Dr John Armstrong, of the East India Company's Service.

Here, on the 2d curt., Mr James Sturgeon, butcher, a decent, honest and most obliging tradesman, whose early death is most sincerely regretted by all who knew him.

At Hermitage, Urr, on the 29th ult., Mr William Montgomery.

At Mains of Crawfordton, on the 27th ult., John, second son of John Rankine, Esq., - aged 11 years.

At Brownhill of Closeburn, on the 26th ult., Mr William Alexander, much and universally regretted.

At Cample of Closeburn, on the 21st ult., Mr William Flint, aged 84; his memory will long be revered by all who had the pleasure of his acquaintance.

At Maxwelltown, on the 2d curt., Mrs Mary Laurie, wife of Mr M'Ghie, smith, aged 76 years.

At Maxwelltown, last week, an idiot boy, best known by the name of Phillemey - who, wherever he went, collected by his antics a crowd around him. Occasionally he was very outrageous and mischievous, and required to be awed by the officers of police. His funeral was attended by an immense crowd - another proof of the high fraternal feeling evinced by the lower Irish at christenings and funerals.

At Greenslack, parish of Borgue, on the 17th ult., aged 15 years, Euphemia, only daughter of Mr Hugh Carter, farmer there.

At Innerwick Manse, on the 24th ult., Margaret Coates Hamilton, wife of the Rev. Adam Forman.

At Bellshill, on Sabbath, the 19th ult., the Rev. John Jamieson, Pastor of the Relief Congregation, in the fifty-sixth year of his age, and thirty third of his ministry. He went to the pulpit in good [sic] health, and was proceeding with the usual service, when he felt himself, towards the close of his expository lecture, becoming unwell. Thinking, no doubt, that the oppression would pass away, he took the psalm-book and was requesting the congregation to sing a few verses, when utterance entirely failed. The shock was instantaneous. He breathed for a short time after he was carried out of the pulpit, but the silver cord was loosed and the wheel was broken at the cistern, and the soul speedily fled to the tribunal of its God. In the space of an hour and a few minutes the living preacher had become a pale and lifeless corpse. It was a desolating stroke to a widow and ten fatherless children. A shock of grief quick as thought, shot through the assembled congregation. Death, judgment, and eternity were pressed upon their notice in a manner which the most inconsiderate could not but feel. The inanimate looks of their departed Minister spoke to them with awful emphasis – “Be ye also ready.” When the event became known in the neighbourhood, the suddenness and peculiar circumstances of the death made a deep and universal impression.

13th March 1832

BIRTHS.

At Wigtown, on the 10th instant, Mrs Agnew, of a son.

At Kirkton, parish of Kirkmahoe, on the 3d curt., Mrs William Reid, of a son.

HYMENEAL VAGARIES. – At Madron, Cornwall, on the 10th ultimo, Mr Michael Curnow, aged eighty-two, had a blessing conferred on his “frosty pow,” by receiving the fair hand of Miss Elizabeth Madden, aged twenty-three. And last week, at Ashton, Henry James, of York Place, Bristol, aged fourteen, was married to Emma, daughter of Mr Matthew, surgeon, of Bedminster, aged twenty-three. There is an old saying – “Mary [sic] your son when you will – your daughter when you can.

DEATHS.

Here, on the 16th current, Mrs Elizabeth Anderson, spouse of Conner Lookup and daughter of the late _____ Anderson, Esq. of Whiteside, whose premature decease is deeply lamented. That Mrs Lookup possessed decided genius, no one can doubt who recollects the spirited poem she composed when the present Duke of Buccleuch attained the years of Majority – by far the most graphic written on the occasion, notwithstanding of a thousand ambitious strainings. But for these things she cared not, as compared with the more serious duties of life; contented to be useful in her day and generation, charitable, pious, and unoffending; the solace of her family, and the favourite of her friends.

Here, yesterday, Mr Robert Copland, many years Overseer at Munshes and Terraughtie – much and justly regretted.

At Maxwelltown, on Friday last, Margaret Sloan, wife of Mr John Sloan, bookseller.

At Gatehouse-of-Fleet, on the 16th instant, Mr Thomas Porter, carrier, aged 34 years.

At Eden Terrace, Carlisle, on Saturday last, Mr Jonathan Nelson, timber merchant, of that city, aged 47.

On the 28th ult., at Whitehall, Grange, the Rev. John Primrose, pastor of the Secession Church in that place. Mr Primrose's death happened in the 81st year of his age, and the 43^d of his ministry.

On the 11th December last, Robert Jardine, Esq., Comptroller, St. Ann's Bay, Jamaica, aged 39 years. The deceased was a young man of the most amiable dispositions, and by his affability and honesty of heart endeared himself to all who shared his acquaintance; whether abroad or in his native town (Lockerby) his worth will be long remembered, and his loss keenly regretted.

On the 10th curt., in Gloucester Place, Portman Square, London, Mary Manners Sutton, relict of the late most Reverend Charles Manners Sutton. D.D., Lord Archbishop of Canterbury, and mother of the Speaker of the House of Commons, aged 76.

Mr Eley, the violincello player, and composer of the celebrated martial tune called "The Duke of York's March," died last week, aged 76, universally respected in the musical profession.

DEATH OF CLEMENTI. – This eminent composer and pianoforte player died on Saturday morning, aged 81, at his cottage in the Vale of Evesham, Worcestershire. Clementi was born at Rome. He came to England in 1767, and published, in 1773, his celebrated Opus II., which gave birth to a new era in Sonata writing. Clementi was master of several languages, a very scientific man, and well versed in literature generally.

NO BIRTHS.

MARRIAGES.

Here, yesterday, by the Rev. Robert Wallace, Mr John M'Gowan, cabinet-maker, to Miss Margaret Primrose.

At Cloak, on the 20th inst., by the Rev. Mr Osborne, Mr Robert Thomson, eldest son of Mr John Thomson, Edinghame, Urr, to Miss Elizabeth Lowden, eldest daughter of the late Thomas Lowden, Esq. of Cloak, Colvend.

At Holm Mill, of Balmaclellan, on the 19th inst., Mr George Lorimer, farmer, Killochy, to Margaret, daughter of Mr William Lorimer, Holm Mill.

DEATHS.

Here, at an advanced age, on the 2d curt., Mrs Mary Nairne, the venerable proprietor of our Old Coffee Room. A more worthy person in her station never existed; in every respect she was decency personified, and her death has left a blank which cannot be supplied. With this exception she was the Nanse Tinnocks of Dumfries – that she kept a strict eye to the character of her guests; loved regular hours; was a foe to revelry and boisterous mirth, and altogether a person upon whose like we may never look again. Mrs Nairne was a pious and charitable woman; by patient industry she acquired some property; part of this she spent in educating and providing for an orphan, cast upon her in a manner truly romantic; and the remainder we hear has been devised admirably and well – in token of her gratitude to those who were kind to her in her early days, when almost without a shilling in the world.

On the 2d curt., at an advanced age, Charles Maxwell, Esq. of Boatford, universally esteemed through his lengthened pilgrimage.

Here, on Thursday last, Jane Edgar, wife of Mr Geo. Walker, cabinet-maker, aged 37 years.

At Gatehouse-of-Fleet, on Wednesday, the 21st current, Mrs Margaret Credie, relict of the late Provost James Credie, nursery and seedsman there.

At Hart Street, Edinburgh, on the 5th inst., Ann Harrington Hawes, wife of Pultney Mein, Esq., Forge Lodge, Dumfries-shire.

At Highpark, Balmaclellan, on the 4th curt., Mr Alexander Shaw, farmer there, aged 76. He was the oldest member of the ancient family of Shaw, whose history as farmers in the Glenkens can be traced back to the fifteenth century.

At Chelmsford, Essex, on the 17th instant, Mr Robert Frazer, tea-dealer, son of Mr Frazer, Hazlewood, Dunscore, much and deeply regretted.

At Valparaiso, on the 17th November last, David Coupland, ship-builder, son of the late Mrs Isabella Coupland, Wellgreen, Dumfries-shire.

At Antigonish, Mrs Ann Chisholm, aged 98 years, a native of Strath-glas, North Britian, leaving 112 grand and great-grandchildren, - of whom 103 are of the name Chisholm, al living.

At Cargins, near Tanderagee, on the 5th inst., Mrs Mary Bennett, at the age of one hundred and three years. She was the life renter of an extensive property, which had been leased on Lord Mandeville's estate at a very low rent. It is not a little extraordinary that the mother of the woman lived to one hundred and five years of age, and that an elder sister attained the age of one hundred and seven years.

3rd April 1832

BIRTHS.

At the Warden of Merton's Oxford, on the 13th ult., Lady Carmichael Anstruther, of a daughter.

Last week, the wife of a respectable man, who resides on Carrickshore was safely delivered of a daughter. – The guidman is now turned 60 years and his better-half has seen 52 summer suns; and not the least remarkable is, that this rural couple have not had any children for the last 20 years. Ayr Advertiser.

MARRIAGES.

At Hardrigglodge, near Annan, on the 26th ult., by the Rev. James Monilaws, Mr John Potts Halbert, druggist in Annan, to Elizabeth Johnstone, eldest daughter of David Dickson, Esq. of Hardrigglodge.

DEATHS.

At Terregles Street, Maxwelltown, on the 31st ult, Margaret Richardson, aged 71 – a female of fervent yet unostentatious piety, undeviating rectitude, and in one word, full of all the graces of the Christian character.

On the 30th ult., at the house of his father, 5, Queensberry street, after a lingering illness, which he bore with great fortitude, Mr William Ferguson – a young man whose gentle disposition, and endearing manners have caused his death to be much and justly regretted by all who had the pleasure of his acquaintance.

At Greenlaw, parish of Crossmichael, on the 26th ultimo, Elizabeth, aged 19, daughter of Mr Thomas Whitewright, land-steward there.

At Kirkcudbright, on the 25th ult., Janet Thomson, aged 66 years, wife of Mr Robert M'Nish of that place.

At Stranraer, on the 27th ult., Mr Thomas Biggam, merchant – much and justly regretted.

At Liverpool, on the 30th ult., Mr Alexander M'William, mason, of a lingering consumption, which he bore with patience and resignation; he was long a resident of this place.

At Berwick, on the 28th ult., in the 53^d year of his age, after a long and painful illness, which he bore with remarkable fortitude, Mr James M'Burnie, long known as a celebrated gunmaker in that place. During the long period which Mr M'Burnie has been in business he has endeared himself to all ranks and conditions by his kind and obliging manners, his evenness of temper and sterling rectitude of conduct; while as an artist he has occupied no inconsiderable place among the members of that profession.

On Saturday week, in the 83^d year of his age, Thomas Booth, Esq., of Toxteth-lodge. As the oldest merchant in Liverpool, he was distinguished during a mercantile career of more than half a century, by the soundness of his views and the unbending integrity of his conduct.

MURILLO. – The celebrated Spanish General Murillo died on the 17th ultimo.

CHAMPOLLION. – The French papers announce the death of the scientist and ingenious traveller M. Champollion. He was only 41 years of age and is said to have died through excessive study. Since his return from Egypt he has been engaged in arranging the extensive materials collected during his travels. Just before his decease he had completed a grammar of the language of the ancient Egyptians.

DR. ALEXANDER MURRAY

“Some time, I think,” says Mr Strang. “in the summer of 1796, I was taking a forenoon’s ride for two or three miles beyond the village of Minigaff. In ascending a hilly part of the road I dismounted, and leading my horse, the day being warm, my attention was attracted by a ragged boy sitting upon the heath reading. Being in no hurry, and impelled by curiosity, I drew near and spoke to him. Observing a number of books lying around him, I lifted one, and opening, found it to be Virgil. I desired him to read the first Eclogue, and he did so, ad aperturam libri. I asked if he knew me; he said he did. I asked if he knew where I lived; he replied, Yes. I requested him to call on Friday night at six o’clock to tea. He came; but judge Mrs Strang’s astonishment when Murray appeared and announced his invitation. Having intentionally concealed the circumstance of our interview, she was horrified at the idea of my folly in requesting a beggar boy, barefooted, clothed in rags, of whom she had never heard, to drink tea. However, after a little explanation, she was satisfied, and he was entertained with a hearty welcome. When he tasted the tea, he said it was the first he had ever drank, and thought it smelt like new-mown hay. Having expressed a wish to see Blair’s Lectures on Rhetoric, I told him I had lent it to a Mr Hume, but the moment he was done with it, it should be at his service. He put a manuscript into my hands, saying it contained poems he had written on the moors; & begged of me to procure a subscription for printing them, in order to purchase clothes. I desired him to leave them with me for two or three weeks; that if I found they were good, and fit for meeting the public eye, I should comply with his request – but if not I should take care he should soon exhibit a more respectable appearance. For obvious reasons the idea of publishing the poems was dropped; but Murray on his return was furnished with the means of appearing in a garb more suited to his future prospects. A few days after, accidentally meeting with the Rev. Garlies Maitland, minister of the parish of Minigaff, and mentioning the circumstance of Murray’s acquirements in Latin, Greek and Hebrew, he sent for him to his house, examined him, and recommended him to Principal Baird, by whose instrumentality, as I was informed, he procured an university education.”

10th April 1832

BIRTHS.

At Canonhill House, on the 3d inst., Mrs James D. Ferguson, of a son.

MARRIAGES.

On Sunday week, at Gretna, W. Owsley, Esq. son of the Rev. John Owsley, of Blaston, to Miss Farrer, eldest daughter of the Rev. Richard Farrer, Rector of Ashley, Northamptonshire. MARRIAGES.

At Bucklerhole, parish of Mousewald, yesterday, by the Rev. A. Murray, Mr Robert Wilkin, farmer, Robiewhat, to Agnes, daughter of Mr William Grierson, Bucklerhole. On the 6th instant, at the King's Arms, Cottak, Dunscore, by the Rev. Mr Bryden, Mr James M'Millan, to Miss Elizabeth Reid. This wedding was celebrated in the jovial spirit of the olden time; upwards of 150 persons attended, and the broose was run for by a great proportion of them over a line of road extending to sundry miles. Those who lacked the assistance of steeds were constrained to take the "near-cuts" across fences, slaps, and styles;" and though the foot-men especially were sufficiently wearied and forfoughten, all the ills of the race were speedily forgotten ...the sumptuous supper which followed the celebration of the nuptials, and the quaichs of mountain dew which washed it down.

At London, on the 14th inst., at St. Mary's Church, Islington, by the Rev. Thomas Mount Fallow, Mr James Hair, of the West India Dock House, Billiter Square, to Mary Bye Rait Sowden, eldest daughter of the late Captain Joseph Sowden.

DEATHS.

At Denbie-House, Annandale, on the 26th ultimo, at an advanced age, Lieutenant-Colonel John Carruthers of Denbie. This highly respectable gentleman of the old school, was the chief of the ancient Border clan of British or Celtic origin, distinguished for its loyalty from the earliest period of Scottish history.

At Burnfoot, on the 3^d current, after a long and severe illness, Miss Wilhelmina Malcolm, in the 66th year of her age. This lady was distinguished in no common degree by a powerful and energetic mind which was assiduously applied to the noblest and most praiseworthy objects. She possessed a large share of that active benevolence which so honourably characterizes the family of the Malcolms, and which she constantly exercised, not only in patronizing the youth of her native district, and assisting them through her influence and means to rise to respectable stations at home and abroad, but likewise in promoting the interests of religion and charity, both by her example and precept; and her lessons of piety and virtue will long be remembered with gratitude by those (not few in number) who had the happiness to receive them.

At Maxwelltown, on the 28th ult., Mrs Fanny Martin.

At Priestdykes, Lochmaben, on the 28th ult., Mr John Hanning, at the advanced age of 83 years.

At Wigtown, on the 4th instant, Mr Wm. Hannay, student, aged 15.

At Charlotte-Street, Air, on the 29th ult., after a severe and protracted illness, William M'Cormick, Esq., aged 41. Since the year 1816, till within the last few months, Mr M'Cormick conducted the "Air Advertiser," and with what talent and success ample proof is furnished by the popularity and extensive circulation of that Journal. His information, acquired by anxious and arduous study, was extensive and well digested; and he applied his knowledge with such a singleness of heart, and discrimination of judgment, as invariably enlisted the affections and admiration of his numerous friends. But his soul proved too active for his earthly frame –

"Science self destroyed her favourite son!"

His body, exhausted by mental anxiety and exertion, fell a prey to disease, so incident to the condition of the studious: and he is thus, in the prime of life, removed from this world, leaving behind a sorrowing widow, and seven helpless children, to lament his early fate. The cause of civil and religious freedom has in him lost an upright and a powerful advocate. But, alas! to him "the uses of this world" are now ended –

"----- the dream is fled; ----

The motley mask, and the great stir are o'er."

The Most Rev. Doctor Curtis, Catholic Primate of all Ireland, died on Wednesday at his house in Drogheda. His Grace is another victim of cholera – but he died full of years, age the age of 92. The Right Rev. Dr Kelly, his late co-adjutor succeeds to the primacy.

At Gosford, on the 14th instant, William Forbes, of Callendar, Esq., to the Lady Lousia A. Charteris, fifth daughter of the Right Hon. the Earl of Wemyss and March.

At London, on the _th [sic] curt., Viscount Howick, to Miss Maria Copley, daughter of Sir Joseph Copley, Bart., at St. George's Hanover-square. After the ceremony, the happy pair set off for the seat of the Earl of Essex, Cashiobury Park, Watford.

On the 1st instant, at Penegoes, Montgomeryshire, the Rev. William K. Fletcher, M.A., Chaplain to the Hon. The East India Company, to Maria Jane, eldest daughter of Mr Jewsbury, of Manchester. Thus vanishes another name, familiar as "household words." Our readers need not be reminded of Miss Jewsbury's well earned literary reputation.

DEATHS.

At Minnihive, on the 16th of July last, James Moffat, Esq. of Drumwhirm, after a long and severe illness, which he bore with becoming resignation and patience. He was much esteemed through life for his brotherly affection and his strict integrity in all his transactions with the world. His loss is deeply regretted by his near connections and numerous acquaintances.

At Port Stanley, Upper Canada, on the 13th ult., Mr Charles Thomson, sixth son of William Thomson of Woodhouse, in the 25th year of his age.

At Dalbeattie, on the 4th current, William, only son of Mr James Corrie, surgeon, aged 22 months – a very promising child.

On the 7th instant, at 36, Queen Street, Edinburgh, Mrs Malcolm Murray, widow of the late Mr William Veitch, Mary-field.

At Cleghorn, on the 5th inst., William Elliott Lockhart, Esq., of Cleghorn and Borthwickbrae.

At Newington lodge, near Edinburgh, on the 8th inst., George Bell, Esq. surgeon, of that city. Mr Bell, was highly, and justly esteemed, not merely in Edinburgh, but throughout an extensive district of the kingdom of Scotland, as well as in the North of England, as one of the most skilfull surgeons of the day; and he has indeed left behind him the highest character for professional talent, and many great and amiable qualities.

At Bath, aged 80, Mr John Mallett. He was one of the few who escaped the shipwreck of the Royal George, Admiral Kempenfelt, at Spithead July 28, 1782, and was probably the last survivor of those who were saved.

28th August 1832

BIRTHS.

At 217, Buchanan Street, Glasgow, on the 24th inst., Mrs Macarthur, of a daughter.

At 79, Great King Street, Edinburgh, on the 22^d instant, the lady of Robert Whigham, Esq., of a son.

MARRIAGES.

On the 15th instant, at Edinburgh, William Wilson, Esq., London, to Jane Riddel Farquharson, eldest daughter of William Cruden, Esq. of Gategill, Stewartry of Kirkcudbright.

At London, by the Venerable Archdeacon Onslow, Edward Thomas Foley, Esq. of Stock Edith Park, Herefordshire, M.P., to the Lady Emily Graham, daughter of the Duke of Montrose.

Here, on the 18th current, Thomas Johnston, son of Mr John Brown, Sands, much regretted.

At Castle-Douglas, on the 18th instant, after a long and lingering illness, Mr John Gifford, aged 69.

At Outown, near Whithorn, on the 20th inst., Mr Anthony Conning, farmer, aged 72.

At Penpont Manse, on Friday, the 3d instant, the Rev. John Nivison, in the 70th year of his age and 34th of his ministry. Mr Novison was a man of modest and unassuming manners, an accomplished classical scholar, and a learned divine.

DEATH OF WILLIAM M'GAVIN, ESQ. – We deeply regret to announce the death of this eminent and much esteemed gentleman, who suddenly expired at Glasgow, on Thursday night, in consequence [sic] of a stroke of apoplexy. Mr M'Gavin was distinguished in the literary world by the familiar cognomen of “The Protestant,” from the well-known popular work which he published under that title, and which has gone through many editions in the course of a few years. We understand he was also the author of several other religious productions of considerable merit, published anonymously.

DEATH OF THE EARL OF CASSILLIS. – At Cassillis, on the 12th instant, the Right Hon. Archibald, Earl of Cassillis; Thus has been cut off, in the prime of life and vigour of manhood, a young nobleman of high talents and great promise – an ornament to the rank to which he belonged, and a benefactor to his native county. His Lordship was for many years highly distinguished for his superiority in all the noble sports of his country; but for the last four or five years, he turned the attention of his acute and active mind to the more useful occupation of improving the soil and breeds of cattle of this country, in which as was to be expected, from his talents and perseverance, he has been eminently successful. Lord Cassillis has left behind him a sorrowing widow, ten weeping children, and hosts of grieving friends, all bewailing his untimely end.

At his house, in York Road, London, on Saturday, the 11th instant, Mr David Motherwell, for some time connected with the daily press, and a correspondent of several of the provincial newspapers. This gentleman, who was a brother of Mr Motherwell, the editor of the Glasgow Courier, was taken ill on Friday evening, and although the symptoms did not assume a decided form at first, yet the disorder became more violent during the night, so much so, that in spite of every application directed by his medical attendants, he expired at eight o'clock on Saturday morning. The deceased was much esteemed, [sic] possessed considerable talents, was a good scholar, and his memory will be long cherished by all those who had the pleasure of his acquaintance. Previous to this illness he was in excellent health and spirits, and was in the prime of life. –

London Papers.

At Ayr, on Monday se'nnight, suddenly, Mr A. White, harbour-master's officer. The deceased was born on the same day with Scotland's darling poet – Burns – and under the same roof. It may be remembered that a dreadful hurricane prevailed on the night when the embryo Poet entered on the stage of life, and that he and his mother were removed, within a few hours after his birth, from the bed where he was born to the house of a neighbour, for greater safety, as the cottage occupied by the parents of Burns was reckoned insecure – But it is not so generally known that Mrs Burns and the infant were placed in the same bed with Mrs White, and the individual whose death we are now recording. Shortly after the removal of Mrs Burns and the infant, the gable of the cottage was thrown down and fell with tremendous violence upon the bed she had so lately occupied.

We regret to have to announce the death, by cholera, of one of the sons of Mr Godwin, the celebrated author. He was a young man of high talent, and the author of several works. Of late years he has been connected with the Morning Chronicle.

DAVID BLAIKIE, ESQ., W.S. – We have to record the sudden death of this gentleman with feelings of the most acute nature. He was educated to the law in Scotland; but having a marked turn for literary pursuits, he became the originator and editor of the Edinburgh Evening Post, and afterwards of the Edinburgh Literary Gazette, of the merits of which namesake we have not spoken more highly than they deserve in our own Journal. On Sunday last, about noon, he was seized with cholera, and sunk under this appalling malady at five o'clock on Monday morning. And melancholy additions have been thrown upon this calamity by domestic circumstances and other afflictions. Mr Blaikie's widow having been moved to Grove House, Brompton, the residence of Mr Jerdan, was safely delivered of a daughter at one o'clock on Friday morning, within twelve hours of her husband's funeral. – Literary Gazette.

 At Lockerbie, on the 3d curt, Janet Jardine, wife of Mr Joseph Jardine, there.
 At Langlands House, Kilmarnock, on the 6th curt., William Rankine, Esq., chief magistrate there. The unexpected death of this amiable man cut of [sic] in the career of his usefulness, has spread a gloom over the town. He was remarkable for the mildness of his disposition, and for prudence and clear-sightedness in the discharge of the arduous duties of his station, his business talents were of a high order; to his superintendance more than one of our public institutions owe much of their prosperity; in him Kilmarnock has lost a good man and a zealous and consistent advocate of every liberal measure. When the cause of reform was unfashionable, & those who were its friends were proscribed and marked men, he fearlessly maintained his opinions, and when he was elevated to a share in the government of the burgh, he remained the advocate of every measure calculated to elevate the lower classes, and to bestow upon them all the privileges of which they were capable of making a judicious use. The death of such a man at such a time is indeed a public loss. – Ayr Observer.
The above respectable members of our community have, with only two or three exceptions, fallen victims to Cholera.

23rd October 1832

13th November 1832

BIRTHS.

Here, on the 12th curt., Mrs J. Stevenson Bushnan, of a son.

At Lockerby, on the 8th instant, Mrs William Martin, of a son.

At Wigtown, on the 26th ult., Mrs Joseph Hewitson, of a son.

At Dalkeith Palace, on the 5th inst., the Duchess of Buccleuch, of a son.

MARRIAGES.

Here, yesterday, by the Rev. Mr Douie, Mr Hugh Wallace, merchant, High Street, to Mary, eldest daughter of Mr Bowes, Castle-street.

At Loaningfoot, parish of Troqueer, on the 9th current, by the Rev. Mr Clyde, Mr John Little, parish of Dunscore, to Agnes, eldest daughter of Mr Robert Lawson.

On Monday week, at Peter's Church, Frome, William Toop, aged 89, to Mary Barrow, aged 52, being his fourth wife. Toop would never strike his wives, for he considered it unmanly, but did not hesitate to drag them backward and forward over a large gooseberry bush, which was in the front of his house, if they transgressed.

DEATHS.

Here, on the 11th current, Miss Copland of Colliston, aged 86.

Here, on the 6th current, after a protracted illness, Jean Millar, relict of the late John Fergusson, writer in this place.

On Sunday, the 11th current, Mr John Harkness, Corbelly Place, Maxwelltown.

At Albany-bank, near Dumfries, on the 30th ult., Mary, infant daughter of Mr John Berwick.

At Casseyfoot, on the 9th current, James Walker, Esq. of Casseyfoot – aged 69.

At Gatehouse-of-Fleet, on the 11th instant, Mrs Janet Gordon, relict of the late Rev. High Gordon, minister of Anwoth, and mother of the Rev. Hugh Gordon, minister of the parish of Mowquhitter, in the Presbytery of Turreff, and Synod of Aberdeen.

At the Manse of Leswalt, upon the 19th ultimo, Mrs Isabella Maclean, of the island Tyree, wife of the Rev. Andrew MacCubbin, Minister of Leswalt, Stranraer Presbytery. She was connected with the first families in the Highlands, being descended from two clans; conscious of her high origin, she ever maintained that dignity of deportment, affability of manner, and engaging address, which attracted the esteem of every person with whom she was acquainted, and she will be long remembered in the Presbytery of Stranraer. She had a just and rational view of religion, and traced the goodness of God with that feeling of the devotional spirit, which drew forth from those with whom she was conversant on this subject, impressions which were never forgotten. God's goodness to her was remarkable at the last; she went to bed at eleven o'clock, in her usual health, and at two in the morning, her pure spirit was in the house of many mansions, with that saviour in whom was all her trust. Her disconsolate husband has caused the two following appropriate [sic] lines to be inserted upon her Tomb-stone:-

Mourn not for me who here do lie –

But for yourselves who are to die.

At Changue, on the 30th ult., Mary M'Keand, wife of Mr John Blain, farmer there, aged 61.

On the 5th current, aged 65, Helenora, widow of Claud Alexander, Esq., of Ballochmyle, North Britain, and daughter of the late Sir William Maxwell, bart., of Springkell.

At Glasgow, on the 1st current, in his 74th year, Mr Patrick Macfarlane, a most eminent and successful translator of works into Gaelic, for the long period of 50 years.

At Elderslie, on the 2^d current, awfully sudden, Mr Spiers of Elderslie. On the day of his death Mr Spiers was to have been honoured with a public dinner by the people of Johnston, and the company had assembled and were proceeding with the festivities when intelligence arrived of his death.

At Linlithgow, on the 7th inst., James Rae, Esq. Sheriff Substitute of Linlithgowshire.
At Bath, Volant Vashon Ballard, Esq. C. B. Rear Admiral of the White, aged 58. This officer accompanied, as a midshipman, Captain Vancouver in his voyage of discovery to the north west coast of America.

20th November 1832

NO BIRTHS.

MARRIAGES.

At Edinburgh, on the 8th inst., the Reverend James Craik, minister of scone, to Margaret, eldest daughter of Walter Grieve, Esq., 31, Gilmore Place, Edinburgh.

DEATHS.

At Drumpark, on Sunday, the 11th curt., Mrs Maxwell of Drumpark.

On the 29th ult., at Milton, in the parish of Buittle, Jean Gilchrist, wife of Mr John Stewart, builder, Dumfries.

At Gilmore-Place, Edinburgh, on the 15th curt., Mrs Ireland, spouse of Mr Thomas Ireland, jun., bookseller, Edinburgh.

At Hangingshaw, on the 14th inst., Margaret, eldest daughter of the late Mr Robert Brand, farmer there.

At Maxwelltown, on the 13th inst., of cholera, Mr John Smith, lately innkeeper there, in the 62^d year of his age.

In Friar's Vennel, here, on Saturday last, of cholera, Mr William Keand, tailor, and dealer in old clothes.

Here, on Sunday last, of cholera, Mrs M'Lauchlan, relict of Mr Cuthbert M'Lauchlan, printer in Dumfries.

Here, yesterday morning, of cholera, Mrs M'Robert, relict of Mr Wm. Brown, shoemaker.

At Maxwelltown, on the 16th inst., Mr David Crocket, in the 78th year of his age.

At Bodisbeck, near Moffat, on the 11th October, Mrs Johnstone, relict of Mr John Johnstone, late farmer in Bodisbeck; her exemplary conduct as a wife, a mother, and a friend, added to all those virtues which adorned a long and well spent life, endeared her to all who knew her. – [The scene of Hogg's best prose tale is laid at Bodisbeck, in the Pass of Moffatdale, and we believe at one time he herded at or near the spot. Our friend is wrong in supposing that "the Brownies" are not older than the Covenanting times, seeing that the subject is alluded to in the very motto in Gawin Douglas, but is quite right so far that the hiding of the persecuted revived, and gave a new tone to, an ancient superstition.]

At Monigaff Manse, on the 9th inst., Margaret, wife of the Rev. John Garlies Maitland, of Fairgirth, and daughter of the late Rev. Dr Scott of Twynholm.

At Johnstone-Place, on the 7th inst., much regretted, Mrs Mary Rogerson, widow of the late Mr Joseph Anderson, schoolmaster of Johnstone.

At Sanquhar, on the 16th instant, Mrs Alexander Hamilton, of Carcoside, of a daughter.

At Wigtown, on the 21st instant, Mrs Maxwell M'Master, of a daughter.

NO MARRIAGES.

DEATHS.

At Greyrigg, parish of Johnstone, on the 12th curt., Mr Alexander Stewart, accountant – much regretted by his friends.

At Maxwelltown, on the 20th inst, in her 75th year, Elizabeth Maxwell, wife of Mr Joseph Stitt, there, much respected.

At Templeland, Closeburn, on the 16th inst., Walter Welsh, formerly of Caplegill in Moffatdale, in the 80th year of his age.

On the 24th of October, at the residence of John Aitken, Esq., Leghorn, Italy, of decline, in his 26th year, Mr David Mackie, fourth son of Mr W. Mackie, Stranraer. He possessed a most amiable disposition, and an accomplished mind; the fond anticipations of his too sanguine relatives, with regard to his prospects in life, have all terminated in an early grave, exemplifying the truth of the poet's moral – "He builds too low, that builds beneath the sky."

At Balmangan, on the 16th curt., Margaret, only surviving daughter of James Kissock, Esq.

At Edinburgh, on the 13th instant, Mungo Ponton Brown, Esq., one of the depute-advocates.

At 38, Rankeillor Street, on the 22^d instant, Mr Robert Robinson, merchant, 90, South Bridge.

On the 3^d instant, on the road from Turin to Nice, the lady of Sir William Maxwell of Monreith, baronet.

At Edinburgh, on the 13th instant, the Rev. John Stark, preacher of the gospel.

The Right Rev. Dr Burke, Protestant Bishop of Waterford, died at his residence in that city on Thursday last. He was brother and heir of the Earl of Mayo.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS

All those having CLAIMS against the Estate of the late Mr JOHN HARKNESS, Corbelloy Place, Maxwelltown, are requested to lodge the same immediately, in the hands of THOMAS HARKNESS, writer in Dumfries.

Dumfries, 26th Nov., 1832.

4th December 1832

BIRTHS.

At Mousewald Manse, on Friday, the 30th ult., Mrs A. B. Murray, of a son.
At 17, London Street, Edinburgh, on the 28th ult., Mrs Andrew M'Kean, of a son.

MARRIAGES.

The Nuptials of the Earl of Lincoln, eldest son of the Duke of Newcastle, and Lady Susan Hamilton, daughter of the Duke of Hamilton, were celebrated at Hamilton Palace, on the 27th ult., in a style approaching to almost regal splendour.
At Swanston House, on the 26th ult, Charles M'Dowall, Esq. W.S., to Jane Margaret, daughter of John Finnie, Esq. of Swanston.

DEATHS.

Here, on the 26th ult., deeply regretted, Mrs Maxwell, the lady of Wellwood Maxwell, Esq. of Barncleugh.
In George Street, here, on the 29th ult., Jessie, daughter of the late Thomas Harkness, Esq., writer.
At Maxwelltown, on the 27th ult, Agnes Glendinning, spouse of Mr Hunter, writer there, in the 31st year of her age.
At Castle-Douglas, on the 22^d ult. Mr Hugh Reyburn, skinner.
At same place, on the 28th ult., Mr John Anderson, son of Mr William Anderson.
At the same place, on the 28th ult., Mr James Douglas, second son of the late Mr Robert Douglas, Douglas Arms Inn.
At Mill-land, parish of Tinwald, on the 27th ult., Mrs Mary Clinean, relict of Mr Wm. Bell, late in Birksahw, Tinwald. The deceased, although 89 years of age, retained her faculties wonderfully unimpaired, and excelled to the last in the delicate and ancient operation of knitting stockings.
At London, on the 24th ult., in his 31st year, of consumption, Mr John Milligan, linen-draper – a native of Kirkinner, Wigtownshire, whose memory will be long esteemed. Not only by his relatives and friends, but by the members of the Metropolitan Scotch society.
At Worthing, Sussex, on the 15th ult., William Bell, youngest son of James and Hester Macwhirter, of that place, aged one year and nine months.
At St. Mingo Street, Glasgow, on the 23^d ult., Janet, daughter of the Rev. Archibald Lawson, late minister of Kirkmahoe
At the Manse of Snizort, Isle of Skye, on the 17th ult., the Rev. Malcolm Macleod, minister of that parish.
At Dremisdale, on the 5th ult., the Rev. George Munro, minister of South Uist, in the ninety-second year of his age, and sixty-first of his ministry.

11th December 1832

Mary Douglas, both of Dumfries.

DEATHS.

At Hebron Bank, Morningside, near Edinburgh, on the 29th ult., Mrs Barbara Bell, wife of John Ritchie, Esq., merchant, Edinburgh.
At Priestlands, by Dumfries, on the 2^d instant, Mr John Rigg, farmer there, aged 65 – after a protracted illness [sic] which he bore with Christian resignation. He has deservedly acquired a first character in the agricultural and commercial world; indeed his death has occasioned a blank in society, and to a large circle of relations, which time can never fill up.
Here, on the 29th ult., Mary Watson, eldest daughter of Mr William Watson, fishing-rod maker, aged 17 – a very clever young woman, and much regretted.
Here, on the 26th ult., aged 3 years, Thomas, son of Mr Thomas [start of name illegible]
....oe, stocking maker.
Here, on the 28th ult., Mary, daughter of Mr Thomas Johnston, gun-maker, aged 5 years.

88 years.
At Lockerbie, on the 23^d ult., Mrs Catherine Smith, aged 44, spouse of Mr James Dixon, baker there, within an hour of giving birth to a child, much lamented by all who had the pleasure of her acquaintance. And on the 30th, Andrew, their infant child.
On the 24th ult., the Honourable Colonel Russell, of the Guards, M.P. for Tavistock, and nephew of the Duke of Bedford. The gallant Colonel was well known on the Turf.
On the 28th ult., at Castletown, Isle of Man, his Excellency Cornelius Smelt, Lieutenant-Governor of the island, in the 87th year of his age.
On the 2^d inst., at the house of the Rev. Alexander Cuthbert, A.M. Montrose, Catherine, eldest daughter of Mr John Shaw, Garliestown.
We see announced the death of Mr Hyde Villiers. This is a great loss to the public service. He had conducted the inquiry respecting the East India Charter with infinite labour and skill, and it is possible that overwork may have hastened his end.

18th December 1832

BIRTHS.

On the 3d inst., at Mauchline, Mrs Dugald Hamilton, of a daughter.
At 60, Northumberland Street, Edinburgh, Mrs Robert Welsh, of a son.

At Lanark, in the Clydesdale Hotel, Sir Charles M'Donald Lockhart, of Lee and Carnwarth, Bart., on Saturday evening at half-past 6. He arrived at the Hotel on Friday evening at 10, apparently in good health.

At Green Park, on the 4th inst., Mr Francis Marshall, jeweller, Edinburgh, in the 78th year of his age.

DEATH OF DR SPURZHEIM – We regret to announce the death of this distinguished individual, at Boston, United States, of fever, on 10th November. He was in his 68th year.

THE BELL ROCK PILOT. – James Spink died at Arbroath on the 9th curt., aged 85. He is prominently noticed in the Account of the Bell Rock Lighthouse, connected with the operations on the 2d September, 1807, when he providentially arrived at the rock with letters from the shore, and was the means of saving the lives of the Engineer and 31 Artificers – at a time when the Tender had drifted, and the tide was fast rising upon them!

The American papers announced the death of Charles Carroll, of Carrollton, the last of the patriotic band, who, in Congress, signed the American declaration of Independence, on the eventful 4th of July, 1776. Mr Carroll had reached his 96th year. The President, as a mark of respect to his memory, had directed the government offices to be closed on the 18th ultimo.

25th December 1832
