Dumfries & Galloway Courier

Birth, Marriage and Death Notices Transcribed by Diana Henry and Robert Wells

1st January 1834

BIRTH.

At the Manse of Irongray, on the 17th inst., Mrs Crawford, of a daughter.

MARRIAGES.

At Loaningside, on the 23d ult., by the Rev. Robert Kirkwood, Holywood, Mr James Nish, Twynholm Village, to Miss Ann Black.

At Balsier, parish of Sorbie, on the 16th inst., by the Rev. E. W. Davidson, Mr William Anderson, farmer, Airyolland, to Sarah, daughter of the late Mr Hannay of Broughton.

On Friday last, at Quarrelwood, Kirkmahoe, by the minister of the parish, James Hyslop and John Moffat, to Mary and Grizzel M'Kean, two sisters. - The circumstance excited considerable notice. A numerous company attended the ceremony, and were handsomely entertained.

At Chapmanleys, on Tuesday, the 10th ult., Mr John Watson, Sheriff Officer and Auctioneer in Lockerby, to Margaret, daughter of Mr Grierson, farmer, Chapmanleys.

DEATHS.

At the Manse of St. Michael's, on Wednesday last, Agnes, second daughter of the Rev. Robert Wallace.

Here, on the 17th inst., David Wilkinson, at the advanced age of 66.

At Annan, on Saturday last, Robert Irving, mason and innkeeper, there.

At Annan, on the 22d inst., Mr James Roxburgh, innkeeper and bacon curer, aged 48; and on the same day, William, eldest son of Mr Bryson, baker, aged 20.

At Bridekirk, on Sabbath last, of consumption, John eldest son of Mr James Creighton, grain-dealer there, and for a short period merchant in Liverpool.

At Leith, on the 19th curt., Wm. Thorburn Watson, aged 5; and at his aunt's house, 5, Piccardy Place, Edinburgh, on the 23d, John Watson Watson, [sic] aged 8, sons of Mr Ebenezer Watson, merchant, Leith.

At Melenpeth, on the 24th current, Mr John Porteous, aged 63, dealer in horses, whose death will be sincerely regretted by a numerous circle of friends and acquaintances.

At Woodslee, in Dumfries-shire, on the 19th inst., Mr Wm. Scott, gardener to G. Scott Elliot, Esq., Larriston, in the 59th year of his age – 35 of which he spent in his service, and that of General Elliot.

DEATH OF MR JAMES BROUGHAM. – This gentleman died on Sunday afternoon, the 2d instant, about four o'clock, in the 54th year of his age. Mr Brougham was the second brother of the Lord Chancellor; and like his more distinguished brother was bred to the Bar, though he made little figure, and of late years did not follow his profession. During the contests which his brother waged in Westmorland, Mr J. Brougham was conspicuous for the activity he displayed as a partisan, and for the zeal he showed in opposing the Lowthers. He was elected the first representative of the new Burgh of Kendal, in December last.

We learn from Greenland that the worthy missionary, Kleinschmide, who has most zealously followed his vocation there for forty years, and founded the flourishing establishment of the brethren, at Fredericksthal, has died at an advanced age.

8th January 1834

NO BIRTHS.

MARRIAGES.

At Annan, on the 28th ult., by the Rev. James Monilaws, Mr John M'Lellan, writer in Annan, to Isabella, eldest daughter of Thomas Blacklock, Esq. of Watch-hill.

At Maxwelltown, on the 30th ult., by the Rev. Mr Thorburn, Mr Robert Broatch, blacksmith, to Mary, eldest daughter of Mr James Thomson, shoemaker, green-Sands.

At Ayr, on the 25th ult., the Rev. John Robertson, to Margaret, youngest daughter of the late Rev. Dr Sibbald, minister of Haddington.

On the 26th ult., Horatio Ross, Esq., of Rossie Castle, M.P., to Justine Henrietta, third daughter of Colin Macrae, Esq. of the Grove, Nairnshire, and formerly Member of the Courts of Policy and Justice in the colony of Demerara.

DEATHS.

At Valleyfield, in the Stewartry of Kirkcudbright, on the 30th ult., Miss Marion Maitland, youngest daughter of the late Alexander Maitland Esq. of Valleyfield, aged 61.

At Preston-Mill, parish of Kirkbean, on the 25th ultimo, Mrs Walker, relict of the late Mr Alexander Walker.

At Kirkinner, Wigtownshire, on the 3d instant, Mr Gavin M'Lauchlin, mason and innkeeper.

At Kirkland, Kirkpatrick-Durham, on the 29th ult., William Dinwoodie, Esq. of Kirkland, aged 68.

On the 22 ult., at Hainford-Hall, near Ipswich, much regretted, Mr John Jolly, cattle-dealer, aged 70, many years a faithful servant to Messrs Armstrong and Co., Easingwold, near York.

At Port-Glasgow, on the 31st ult., universally regretted Mr James Thomson, master of the Grammar School there, in the 87th year of his age, and 63d of his incumbency.

At Glasgow, George T. Darling. – The deceased was a young man of greatest promise, and enjoyed the friendship of James Montgomery, Esq., and other eminent poets, from whom he received the most flattering acknowledgments of his poetical genius.

At Longtown, on the 24th ult., Mr Wm. Best, aged 63; a man of very eccentric habits.
DEATH OF THE HON. GEORGE LAMB. – We have to announce the death of the Hon. Mr Under Secretary Lamb, which melancholy event took place on Thursday at two a.m., at his official residence in Whitehall-yard. Mr Lamb was representative for the Irish borough of Dungarven, for which he sat in four parliaments, in the Duke of Devonshire's interests, having been first returned in 1826, when Sir Augustus Clifford retired. On the change of government, when Lord Melbourne was appointed Secretary of the Home Department, Mr Lamb obtained the appointment of Under-secretary, and since that period Mr Lamb has been considered the official organ of the home department in the House of Commons.

We announce the death of Captain Hoppner, of the royal navy, after a severe illness of three months, which he bore with Christian fortitude. Captain Hoppner's name has been frequently before the public. His intimacy with Madera, one of the principal personages at Loo Choo, forms an agreeable and interesting episode in the account of those islands; and the skill with which he conveyed Lord Amherst and his suite to Batavia, in the boats of the Alcaste, after the loss of that vessel, and his opportune return on board of the Lion, Indiaman, the assistance of his comrades, must be remembered by every one acquainted with the particulars of their perilous situation. He was employed in all the recent expeditions fitted out by government to explore the Polar Seas, in the last of which he commanded his Majesty's ship Fury, which it unfortunately became necessary to abandon among the ice.

15th January 1834

DEATHS.

Here, on the 19th curt., Mrs Mary Burgess, relict of the late Mr John Colvin, Deacon of the Squaremen, of this burgh.

At Gatehouse-of-Fleet, on the 16th inst., aged 80 years, Mr Thomas M'Caa, wholesale and retail wine and spirit dealer, for 55 years in that town. - He was a man that during that long period, was much esteemed for probity in all his dealings, and greatly respected by a very extensive connection of friends.

At Annan, on the 16th curt., Mr William Farish, fisherman, one of the oldest inhabitants of Annan.

At George Town, Demerara, on the morning of the 15th November last, James Lindsay M'Minn, manufacturer, of this town. He was a young man of the highest respectability as a merchant, - kind and affectionate as a son, and brother, and was truly a friend to all in distress; he had been absent from Scotland fourteen years, and was just about to return to his native country, when he was cut off after a few days illness, in the prime of life.

At Sunderland, on the 9th inst., of small-pox, Elizabeth, second daughter of Mr Thomas Robinson, (formerly of Moffat,) much regretted.

At Whitehaven, on the 10th instant, Janet, relict of the late Captain Smith, of the Friendship. - She died in the prime of life, and by a course of virtuous and amiable conduct, had acquired the respect and esteem of all who knew her.

On the 11th inst., at Dropmore, in the 74th year of his age, Lord Grenville. His lordship, has left, we believe, no issue. He was for a short time Speaker of the House of Commons, and was appointed Secretary of State in June, 1794. In 1806 he was first Lord of the Treasury, and head of the Government. He then also was made Auditor of the Exchequer which office he held at the time of his death. It is said that his Lordship was acquainted with the authorship of the letters of Junius, and that the secret is now about to be revealed.

On Monday last, in Liverpool, aged 32, Mungo Park, nephew of Mungo Park, the celebrated African Traveller, and son of the late Mr Park, of the Isle of Mull, whom Sir Walter Scott, in the notes to his Novel of Guy Mannering, acknowledges was the original from whence he drew the character of Dandie Dinmont.

At Grassnock, on the 19th ult., Wm. Cunningham, Esq., younger of Enterkine, to Elizabeth, only child of the late Wm. Allason Esq. of Logan.

DEATHS.

At Cargenholm, on the 26th ult., in her 91st year, Alison, daughter of the Rev. Robert Wight, who, for upwards of half a century, was minister of St Michael's church here. Although Miss Wight had survived her early associates, she retained, during life, a wide circle of friends, to the very youngest of whom she was singularly endeared by the minute and affectionate interest which, to the last, she felt in their welfare. Her memory will long be cherished by those who know how to appreciate warm benevolence and unostentatious piety.

At the Militia Depot here on the 1st inst., Ensign Andrew D. M'Intosh, aged 33, only son of the late Lieut.-Quarter-Master M'Intosh, of the Dumfries Militia.

At Kerfield Porter Lodge, on the 1st inst., John, third son of Mr Thomas Haining, gardener.

At Newton-Stewart, on the 26th ult., Daniel M'Laurin, Esq., Agent of the British Linen Company there. Few individuals have left this vale of sorrows whose loss was more generally and sincerely mourned than Mr M'Laurin. As a husband and father he was tender and affectionate; as a banker and factor his intelligence and his usefulness to his constituents and the public were conspicuous; his friendships were firm and lasting; and the integrity and straight-forwardness which he evinced in all his intercourse [sic] with mankind, procured his universal respect and esteem. Torn from the work in the prime of life, and in a career of active and energetic utility, his lamenting friends can only say, "The Lord gave, and the Lord hath taken away; blessed, for ever blessed, be the name of the Lord."

At Newton-Stewart, on 25th ult., Elizabeth Stewart, widow of Mr Robert Ker, formerly in Garlarg, afterwards in Daltammie, parish of Minnigaff. Mrs Ker was, early in life, selected to supply the place of a former affectionate wife, by whom Mr Ker had a family, and in this situation she fully justified the choice. Her maternal care and affection for that family were equal to what she showed to her own, and they take this opportunity of testifying the deep sense of gratitude, respect, and love, which they entertain for her character.

At Creebridge, on 2d current, Mr Andrew Boddan, mason.

At St. Mary, Louisiana, North America, William Richardson, Esq., of Attacapas, aged 59 years; a native of Annan, Dumfries-shire, after 42 years residence in America.

On the 17th ult, John Bennet, Secretary of the Establishment of Lloyd's, with which he has been connected for forty years.

On the 14th ult., the right hon. Lord Teignmouth, in his 83d year, formerly as Sir John Shore, governor-General of India.

12th March 1834

BIRTHS.

At Dalkeith Palace, on the 2d inst., the Duchess of Buccleuch, of a son.

At Halleaths House, on the 5th inst., Mrs Douie, of a son.

At Holywood Village, on the 25th ult., by the Rev. Mr Kirkwood, Mr Christopher Norval, to Miss Euphemia Lewars.

On the 24th ultimo, at the British Ambassador's Chapel, Paris, M. Maxwell, Esq., Captain Royal Irish Fusileers, son of the late Lieut.-Sir John Heron Maxwell, Bart., to Charlotte Frances, eldest daughter of Captain Burgoyne, R.N.

DEATHS.

Here, on Sunday the 9th curt., Mrs Jean Armstrong, relict of John Armstrong, writer in Dumfries.

Here, on the 3^d curt., Miss Ann Kisson, aged 75 years.

At Kirkton, on the 28th ult., Mr M'Murray, late of Lochwood, aged 84 years – much regretted.

At Springholm, on the 8th curt., aged 33, Jane Smith, wife of James Paterson, shoemaker – much and justly regretted.

At Well-Strand, parish of Kirkconnel, on the 1st instant, Angus Harkness, at the advanced age of 86. The deceased had only survived his spouse and compeer in age about two years, and with whom he had lived in amity for 63 revolving seasons.

At Sierra Leone, on the 30th December last, John Powell, carpenter of the Brig Eliza and Jane of Liverpool, aged 23 - a native of this place, much regretted.

At the Temple Gate Almshouses, Bath, in her 104th year, Sarah Silcox. When in her hundredth year she sold cake about the streets.

Mr Ricardo, the English banker, who has been much engaged in contracts for loans, and had been for some time occupied at Paris with financial speculations, died on Monday morning in this capital. – Paris Paper.

At Symington Manse, Lanarkshire, on the 21st ult., the Rev, John Smith, minister of that parish.

At Bath, Mr E. Upham, late of Dawlish, Devon, known to the literary world by his Oriental publications.

On the 24th ult., Major John Campbell, late of his Majesty's 11th regiment of infantry.

19th March 1834

BIRTHS.

Here, on the morning of the 12th curt., the wife of Mr Edward Haining, clothier, of a daughter.

At Cairnsmore House, on the 9th inst., the lady of James Stewart, Esq., of a son.

At Barwhirran, Wigtownshire, on the 15th inst., Mrs Charles Hannay, of a son.

MARRIAGES.

At Ecclefechan, on the 10th curt., by the Rev. Mr Harkness, Mr William Copland, joiner, Annan, to Miss R. Moffat, Ecclefechan.

Here, on the 4th inst., by the Rev. Mr Wallace, Mr John Jackson, painter, to Amelia Shaw, daughter of the late Mr David M'Nairn, wood merchant, Glasgow.

DEATHS.

Here, on Thursday last, after a long protracted illness, Mrs Agnes Halliday, spouse of Mr James Nicholson, stocking-maker, in the 54th year of her age.

At Annan, on the 14th inst., in his mother's house, in Ednam street, James Henderson, of New York, of consumption.

At Annan, on the 15th inst., very suddenly, John Johnstone Dalgliesh, youngest son of John Dalgliesh, Esq. of Prestonfield.

At Edinburgh, on the 10th inst., James Goldie, Esq., writer to the signet. The sudden death of this gentleman, who had scarcely reached the prime of life, has excited feelings of deep sorrow and regret in an extensive circle of friends, both in Edinburgh and in this county, with which his family is intimately connected. - Possessed of a sound and judicious mind, and of undoubted honour and integrity, Mr Goldie's deportment was a once mild and unostentatious. - His character as a professional man was highly esteemed. In private life Mr Goldie was all that is amiable; he was cheerful and intelligent, sensible and dispassionate in his opinions, and correct and exemplary in his habits. He has been summoned hastily away from the active duties of life, from fair prospects and attached relatives and friends - but his memory and character will not parish from the remembrance of such of them as may be permitted for a few years longer to tread the uncertain path of life.

On the 3d curt., the Rev. William Paul, Professor of Natural Philosophy in the University and King's College of Aberdeen.

On Friday, the 28th ult., at Cheshunt, in her 90th year, Mrs Susan Cromwell. She was the last of that name, and the great great grand-daughter of the Protector, Oliver Cromwell.

26th March 1834

At Oxendean, Berwickshire, on the 12th inst., the lady of William Maxwell, Esq., younger of Monreith, of a son.

MARRIAGES.

On the 11th inst., at Stock-upon-Trent, the Rev. F. H. Stuart Menteith, Vicar of Thorpe-arch, in the county of York, fifth son of C.G. Stuart Menteath, Esq. of Closeburn Hall, Dumfries-shire, to Cora, fifth surviving daughter of H. Chawner, Esq., M.D., of Clayton, formerly of Burton-upon-Trent.

At Berwick, on the 17th curt., Mr David Brunton, of the Excise, to Miss Rachel Darling, daughter of Mr Darling, of Reston, Berwickshire.

At Bilbow of Troqueer, on the 20th curt., by the Rev. Mr Thorburn, Mr Thomas Allan, coach-painter, Liverpohl, [sic] to Mary, eldest daughter or Mr John M'Courty, joiner there.

At Kelton, Carlaverock, on the 21st curt., by the Rev. Mr Gillies, Mr Thomas M'Lean, ship carpenter, to Elizabeth, eldest daughter or Mr James Findlay, ship builder.

DEATHS.

On the 17th curt., at Lochmaben, the Rev. Thomas Gibson, minister of that parish, much and justly regretted. Mr Gibson, a native of the parish of Closeburn, was educated under

Mr Mundell, Rector of the celebrated Academy of Wallace-Hall. From thence he removed to the University of Edinburgh, where he went through a complete course of studies, preparatory to the holy ministry, and in due time he became a Licentiate of the Church of Scotland. In the early part of his life he was placed in several different situations; and always conducted himself with so much prudence and propriety, and discharged his duty so conscientiously and ably, as to gain the esteem and favour of all with whom he was connected. After having been several years a preacher of the gospel, he was ordained minister of the parish of Lochmaben in the year 1809, and continued in that situation until his death. - Mr Gibson was a very good classical scholar, well acquainted with general literature, a sound divine, and a rational, impressive, practical preacher. Having endeavoured to establish among his hearers a safe and sure foundation of right religious principles, it was always his anxious care to rear upon that foundation the fair superstructure of a holy and virtuous life; inculcating earnestly the Apostolical maxim, which enjoins all Christians to add to their faith virtue. He was remarkably distinguished by a kind and benevolent disposition, which, while it rendered him contented, cheerful, and happy himself, made him delight in promoting the happiness of all around him. Few men had a more extensive circle of acquaintances, and by all who knew him he was esteemed and beloved. He was particularly fond of the society of his clerical friends, who were very numerous; and to young men coming forward to that profession, whose principles and talents he considered respectable, his hospitality and kindness were almost unbounded. - In his character there was not the smallest taint of duplicity or deceit, and high as the eulogium is, it may justly be applied to him, that he was a man without guile. Having upon mature consideration adopted his principles, he adhered to them uniformly and steadily; and every friend who knew him could reckon with certainty upon the open and honourable part he would act in any situation. His whole character and conduct were such as to procure him many friends; and he could hardly have any enemies. Both his heart and his hand were so open as to disarm all hostility, and even to turn enemies into friends. - It would not be easy to name another clergyman who has passed through life enjoying a longer share of the esteem and affection of his parishioners, and of all who knew him; and whose death has been more sincerely regretted. - The removal of so excellent a person has left a blank in the parish and presbytery of Lochmaben, and in the whole neighbourhood, which will not be soon or easily filled up.

On the 11th inst., in Edinburgh, Anne, wife of Capt. G. G. Lennox, R.N., and a daughter of the late James Walker, Esq. of Woodland.

Here, on the 19th inst., Elizabeth L. Brown, aged 20, eldest daughter of the late Alexander Brown, Esq. of Drumsahngan, [sic] near Gatehouse-of-Fleet, whose premature death is much and sincerely regretted, by all those who had the pleasure of her acquaintance.

At the Manse of Middlebie, on the 21st inst., Mrs Nancy Davidson, the beloved wife of the Rev. Richard Nivison, minister of that parish. At Moffat, on the 14th inst., Robert, third son of Mr Robert Burnie, there.

On board the Jumna, on his voyage home from Calcutta, on the 21st November last, after an illness of a few days, James Bell, third son of Mr Bell, turner here, aged 20 years – a young man of high promise, and whose early fate is lamented by all who knew him.

At Maxwelltown, on the 18th inst., Jane Cairnon, wife of Benjamin M'Kay, miller.

At Hardgate, parish of Urr, on the 22^d inst., Catherine, eldest daughter of the late Dr Johnstone. This amiable young lady met her death in a most distressing way, - her clothes having accidentally caught fire three weeks ago, by which she was so severely burnt, as to cause her death.

At Holmes, near Moffat, on the 12th curt., Mary Brown, relict of Mr David Marchbank, in Hurkledale, aged 65 years.

At Millerland, Troqueer, on the 4th curt., Grace, youngest daughter of Mr John Corrie, farmer there.

Here, on Monday week, in her 26th year, Louisa Rain, wife of Mr James Taylor, painter.

2nd April 1834

BIRTHS.

Here, on Monday, the 24th ult., Mrs Lonsdale, of a daughter.

At Dalfibble, Kirkmichael, on the 17th ult., the lady of Thomas Smith, Esq., of a daughter.

At Cargen Bridge, on the 25th ult., Mrs Joseph Dickson, of a son.

MARRIAGES.

At 40, Albany Street, Edinburgh, on the 25th ult., by the Rev. Dr Muir, Mr W. P. Allardice, son of William Allardice, Esq. of Murlingden, Forfarshire, to Anna Maria, daughter of Captain M'Dermid, late of the 42d Royal Highlanders.

At Comlongan, on Tuesday the 18th ult., by the Rev. Henry Duncan, Mr Peter Irving, painter, Dumfries, to Helen, second daughter of Mr D. Sinclair, Comlongan.

Here, on the 17th ult., by the Rev. Edward Dobbie of Penpont, Mr William Lockerby, Taylor at Glencaple Quay, to Miss Catherine Crocket, daughter of the late Mr William Crocket, farmer in Auchenskeoch.

At Langholm, on the 24th ult., by the Rev. Mr Shaw, Mr Alexander Hannay, teacher to Miss Elizabeth Margaret Scott, second daughter of the late Mr Thomas Scott, teacher there.

At Castle-Douglas, on the 25th ult., Mr Samuel Robertson, to Miss Grace Milligan.

At London, on the 19th ult., the Right Hon. the Earl of Kerry, eldest son of the Marquis of Lansdown, to the Hon. Miss Augusta Ponsonby, second daughter of Viscount and Viscountess Duncannon.

DEATHS.

On Thursday, 27th ult., at Rosslyn-house, in the county of Middlesex, the right Honourable George, Earl of Galloway, K.T. and Admiral of the Blue.

At the Hewk, on the 26th ult., Joanna Jemima, aged 10 months, daughter of Captain George Hope Johnstone.

At Albany-Place, on the 23d ult., Diana, wife of John Walker, Esq., late of Clouden.

At Nunfield Cotage, aged 14 months, Thomas Dundonald Cochrane, son of Major Adair.

At Lochfoot, parish of Lochrutton, on the 23d ult., Mr Gilbert Johnstone, late miller there, and for 33 year a respected residenter in that parish. The deceased was a most obliging industrious man, and his knowledge of the simple rules of medicine, and successful operation of blood-letting, coupled with his feeling disposition, rendered him of the utmost service to the poorer class of parishioners, when in distress. His remains were followed to their last abode by nearly 100 of the neighbouring parishioners, who respected Mr Johnstone in life, and thus evinced their last token of regard to his memory in death.

Here, on Saturday last, Mr Walter Scott, boot and shoemaker, aged 65.

At Annan, on the 25th ult., at her brother-in-law's, Helen, youngest daughter of the late William Pool, Esq., merchant, Lockerby.

At Lockerby, on the 15th ult., Mr John Bell, formerly of the island of St Vincent, second son of Mr Francis Bell, Lockerby. – A young man highly esteemed during his residence in the West Indies, and died deeply lamented by a numerous circle of friends and acquaintances in the county of Dumfries.

DEATHS.

On the 6th current, at Hoddam Manse, the Rev. James Yorstoun, minister of that parish.

At Borgue Manse, on the 8th instant, after a lingering illness, borne with Christian fortitude, the Rev. James Gordon, in the 50th year of his age. He was an affectionate husband, a tender father, a conscientious pastor, a faithful friend, and was uniformly charitable to the poor. The distressing bereavement is an irreparable loss to his afflicted widow and family, and is deeply deplored by his much attached parishioners, and by an extensive circle of friends. His character was irreproachable, his piety sincere, his understanding enlightened, his principles truly evangelical, and he was distinguished for his soundness of judgement. His manners were mild and unassuming, his disposition truly amiable, his hospitality unostentatious; and his unremitting anxiety to promote the spiritual and temporal welfare of those committed to his pastoral care, gained him their unfeigned regard and esteem. His weekly discourses breathed the spirit of Christian piety, and universal good-will to mankind; they were listened to with the most profound attention, and left impressions on the minds of his hearers that cannot be erased so long as memory retains her empire. He was universally esteemed by all classes within the sphere of his acquaintance, and he has descended into the tomb amidst the tears and lamentations of his relatives and friends and of an affectionate congregation. When the lamp of life was glimmering in its socket, he, as loudly as expiring nature would allow, expressed an anxious wish that his successor might be kind to the poor.

Here, on the 5th current, Mr Joseph Anderson, late officer of excise.

At Nith Place, here, on the 6th current, Mr James Drummond, advanced in years.

At London, on the 5th inst., Jessie, youngest daughter of Edward Boyd, Esq. of Merton-Hall, in the county of Wigtown.

At Milkside Cottage, on the 7th current, Mrs Johnstone, sen. of Grange, in the 86th year of her age.

At Ringower, parish of Kells, on the 4th current, after giving birth to a thriving male child, Isabella, daughter of the late Dr John Hope, Demerara, and wife of Mr James Barber, farmer, Ringower.

At Broom, parish of St Mungo on the 6th current, Andrew Gowanlock, of Broom, at the advanced age of 83 years, much and justly regretted by his friends and relatives.

At Sanquhar, on the 6th instant, on his way from Norfolk to Glasgow, William Callow, aged 56 years; and who was recently interred by the kirk session there. The deceased was by trade a currier, and a native of the parish of St Michaels, county of Norfolk.

At Aranmore, near Killybegs, county Donegal, Anthony M'Phillips, in his 108th year; he retained to the last, the full use of his faculties. Two years previous to his death he was so active as to leap through his hands while joined together.

23rd April 1834

BIRTH.

At Mouswald Place, on the 18th current, Mrs Carruthers, of a son.

MARRIAGES.

At Enterkinfoot, on the 21st current, by the Rev. Mr Reid, minister of Sanquhar, Mr Roger Murray, saddler, Dumfries, to Isabella Grierson.

At Blackburn, parish of Johnstone, on the 3d instant, by the Rev. Dr Colvin, Mr Wm. Paul, to Jessie, youngest daughter of Mr Wm. Thorburn, Blackburn.

At Broomhills, Wamphray, on the 14th inst., by the Rev. Dr Dickson, Mr Charters, schoolmaster, to Miss Hamilton, daughter of Mr Hamilton, farmer, Broomhills.

On the 3d inst., at the Collegiate Church, Manchester, Mr John Milligan, of Chapel-en-Frith, to Miss Elizabeth Chambers, of Manchester.

At Wakefield, on the 7th ult., by the Rev. Samuel Sharp, vicar, William Thomas Hall, Esq. of Sandal Cliff, and formerly of Castle-Douglas, to Sarah Ann, second daughter of Wm. Starkey, Esq. of Wakefield.

DEATHS.

On the 27th of February last, in Upper Canada, James Hogan, Esq. of Waterside, Dumfries-shire.

At Howgill, near Sanquhar, on the 9th current, Mr William Yeoman, farmer there. He was in the prime of life, and his death, which was awfully sudden, is deeply lamented. The day preceding he was in the fields superintending his workmen, and appeared to be in his usual health and spirits. His afflicted widow and aged mother, in common with all who knew and respected the deceased, for his numerous good qualities, will long deplore this most afflictive dispensation of Providence.

At Hardlawbank, parish of Holywood, on the 17th current, Adam Corrie, youngest son of Mr David Rodan, farmer, aged 19 months.

At Swyer, parish of Dunscore, on the 19th current, Mrs Sarah French, aged 63, relict of Mr James Stobo, farmer.

Of water in the head, on the 9th instant, James M'Gub [rest of word illegible] aged 19 years, grandson of Mr Thorburn, Kirkbank, parish of Johnstone, whose death is deeply and justly regretted by his relatives and friends.

At Greenock, on the 5th instant, after a short illness, James Findlay, Esq., in the 80th year of his age. Mr Findlay was the first instructor of the poet Burns in his duties as an Excise officer. The contemporaries of our national bard are now fast disappearing from among us, and the time seems to be at hand when no one shall be found who can say he has listened to the living accents of that gifted peasant, whose inspired words have gone into every land, and will move and delight the latest posterity. Mr F. came to Greenock in 1792, where he continued to reside until his death, respected by all who enjoyed the pleasure of his acquaintance.

30th April 1834

BIRTHS.

Here, on the 19th inst., Mrs H. R. Douglas, High Street, of a son.

Here, on the 27th curt., the wife of Mr Thomas Dickie, inn-keeper, of a son.

At Pingarie, on the 22d curt., aged 68, Agnes Brown, wife of James Hunter, Esq. – A sincere and pious Christian; her exemplary conduct in every relation of life, shed a lustre upon her belief, and her religious and domestic virtues, will long be cherished by an extensive circle of relations and friends.

At Maxwelltown, on Thursday last, the 24th curt., Robert, son of Mr John Gibson, joiner, aged 3 years.

At Gatehouse-of-Fleet, on the 22d instant, aged 22 years, Thomas, eldest son of Mr Watson, surgeon there.

At Whithorn, on the 10th instant, deeply regretted by his family and friends, Mr Stewart M'Neel, a very old and respectable inhabitant.

Lately, at Meickleholm, parish of Kirkmichael, Mr Alex Henry. Late farmer there. – The deceased was on the borders of perhaps upwards of four score years, and during his lengthened span, bore a character unimpeachable for industry and integrity. He was a noted curler, and on many occasions bore off the laurels from players of high status; to the last he continued enthusiastically fond of this manly and witching game.

At Dunland, parish of Lochrutton, on the 18th curt., Mrs John Inlis, [sic] much regretted.

At Kilconquher, Fifeshire, on the 17th inst., Catherine, eldest daughter of Mr M'Laurin, teacher, aged 3 years.

At Petersburg, Virginia, in March last, Robert Walker, Esq., a native of Dumfries, in the 65th year of his age. The deceased emigrated at the early age of 17 – talent his passport, and perseverance his capital – and by dint of exertion and honourable conduct, won his way to independence, first as a merchant, and latterly as a banker. In Petersburg he resided for the long period of 48 years, and was justly accounted the pride of Scotsmen within that locality. He retired from business several years previous to his decease, and enjoyed the most profitable of all otiums, by dedicating his leisure to acts of benevolence and the duties of religion. To some of his relations he has bequeathed wealth, and to all of them what is better, a good name, and an example, which, if followed, will enable the young “to go and do likewise.”

General Lafayette died on Tuesday morning at five o'clock. During the last 15 years of his life he was the only individual alive who had taken a leading part, and figured in a conspicuous manner, in the event of the first revolution. The venerable General was born on the 1st of September, 1757, and consequently wanted little more than three months to complete the age of 77. The wondrous scenes in both the New World and the old, in which the name of Lafayette was prominently distinguished, are among the most remarkable in the annals of mankind; and we may safely aver (without entering into abstract opinions on political doctrines) that history does not in all her records possess a name which has passed through the searching ordeal of public opinion, even in the darkest and most tempestuous times, more pure and unsullied than his whose death his country is called upon to deplore. The Chamber of deputies paid him on Monday the distinguished compliment of sending in its name to enquire after the state of his health.

4th June 1834

BIRTHS.

At Tighanrudh, Bute, on the 25th ult., Lady Sandford, of a daughter.

Miss Inverarity, of the Theatre Royal, Covent-garden, was married, on Monday week, at St. Giles's church, to Mr Martyn, of the same theatre.

DEATHS.

Here, after a few hours' illness, on the 6th curt., Mrs Agnes Cram, wife of Mr Alexander Taylor, shoe-maker – deeply and sincerely regretted.

At London, on the 19th ult., after a very short illness, Mr Alexander Napier, tinsmith, formerly of this place.

THE LATE COLONEL IRVING. – This gentleman who was a native of Glinzier, parish of Cannobie, Dumfries-shire, died in the island of Guernsey, in December last, though an account of his death only reached his friends about a fortnight ago. – The deceased entered his Majesty's service in the month of July, 1795, as an ensign in the 28th regt. Of foot, and from that period till shortly before his death, was always in active service, and throughout the late war, bore a high name for bravery in the many engagements in which he was present.

DEATH OF THE RIGHT REV. DR DOYLE. – This eminent individual, after a long and painful illness, died on the 30th ult. at Carlow. He had been formerly in the university of Coimbra, in Portugal, whence he was transferred to the professorship of theology in the college of Carlow, and, in the year 1819, was appointed bishop of the Catholic dioceses of Kildare and Leighlin, being then the youngest man who had ever obtained a similar rank in the Irish Catholic church.

The venerable Lord Wodehouse, the father of the House of Peers, expired last week at his seat, Kimberley-hall, Norfolk, having attained the very advanced age of 93. His Lordship was Recorder of Falmouth. As Sir John Wodehouse, he was for many years member of the House of Commons, and was created a baron in 1797, being one of nine peers created in that year during the administration of Mr Pitt.

DEATHS.

CONVENER M'KINNELL. – It is with deep regret we announce the death of Convener M'Kinnell, which took place on the forenoon of Thursday last, after a very brief illness. During the lengthened period which Mr M'Kinnell has filled the duties of a citizen and master-tradesman in Dumfries his character has uniformly possessed in a strong degree the features of integrity and virtue; and it is the lot of few to pass to the "narrow house" with a more unsullied [sic] name or a fairer reputation. As an active working member of the kirk Session his loss will be severely felt, more especially among the aged and indigent, amongst whom his duties in this respect frequently led him; & when we witnessed the long train of mourners which followed his remains to St. Michael's we are inclined to regard his demise more as a public loss than a private one.

At Gatehouse-of-Fleet, on the 15th current, after a severe illness of several weeks duration, Robert, youngest son of James Kirkpatrick, Esq., merchant. The deceased was a youth of the highest promise; in school and out of it he feared no competitor; and such were his powers of memory, judgement, taste, and application, that had his life been spared, he bade fair to become a distinguished member of society. His premature loss has inflicted a deep wound not only on the feelings of his own family, but upon those of a circle far beyond it.

At Ballina, county of Mayo, on the 31st ult., aged 57 years, Mr William Crocket, son of the late Mr John Crocket, tenant of Redbank, parish of Troqueer. During the last 24 years Mr Crocket has resided in Ireland, discharging a very important office in the management of the Mayo fishings; and at the period of his decease was the sole agent for the fishings in the Moy.

At Kirkcudbright, on the 8th curt., Mrs Mackenzie, relict of Mr John Mackenzie.

The Menai Bridge will probably be regarded by the public as the best monument of Mr Telford's fame. This bridge over the the [sic] Bangor-ferry, connecting the counties of Carnarvon and Anglesea, partly of stone and partly of iron, on the suspension principle, consists of seven stone arches, excelling in magnitude every work of the kind in the world. They connect the land with the two main piers, which rise fifty-three feet above the level of the road, over the top of which the chains are suspended, each chain being 1,714 feet from the fastenings in the rock. The first three-masted vessel passed under the bridge in 1826. Her topmasts were nearly as high as a frigate; but they cleared twelve feet and a half below the centre of the road-way. The suspending power of the chains was calculated at 2,016 tons. The total weight of each chain, 121 tons.

DEATH OF WILLIAM BLACKWOOD, ESQ. – “We have to announce the death of this distinguished publisher and excellent man, which took place on Tuesday morning, at his house, No.3, Ainslie Place. Mr Blackwood had been confined almost entirely to bed for the last four months, of a tumour of the most malignant nature, and which proved beyond the reach of either medical or surgical skill. He was attended throughout his illness by his attached friend, Mr D. M. Moir, of Musselburgh, with the able assistance of Professors Thomson and Syme, and of Mr Liston. Nothing could exceed the fortitude and composure which Mr Blackwood exhibited throughout the progress of his intractable malady, and until nature became exhausted within a few days of his death, his mind possessed all its wonted cheerfulness. As the projector of the periodical which bears his name, Mr Blackwood may be considered as a distinguished public character, under whose auspices the fame of Scottish genius has been carried to the remotest corners of the earth.” Courant.

At Newton-Stewart, on the 19th inst., a victim to jaundice, in the 36th year of his age, Mr Robert Armstrong, jun. tailor, deeply and most deservedly regretted by a most numerous circle of friends and acquaintances. He had been unanimously chosen, at its establishment, master of the respectable Amateur Instrumental Musical Band of that place, the duties of which he most ably discharged, to the entire satisfaction of his co-bandsmen who lament his removal. Of a truth, such was his uniform buoyancy of spirit, and the unsophisticated [sic] kindness & warmth of his feelings, and so disinclined was he ever to inflict the most distant degree of injury on the feelings of others as to render him an object not only of the highest respect, but even the master-spirit of almost every company in which he happened to be, and hence the so general and heartfelt regret entertained for his loss.

At Crawickmill on the 24th instant, Mr David Crichton, in the 68th year of his age. – the deceased, for a series of years in the former part of his life, officiated as carrier betwixt

Doctor Francia, who has ruled despotically over Paraguay since the emancipation of Spanish America, has just been married in the 56th year of his age, to the daughter of M. Durand, a merchant of Bayonne. By the articles of the marriages contract, the bride will succeed to the political authority of her husband, in case he dies without leaving any legitimate heir. A Frenchwoman may thus one day be called to reign over one of the finest countries in America.

DEATHS.

At M'Murdostown, parish of Dunscore, on Thursday last, the 30th ult., Isabella Aitken, in the 82d year of her age. – She was servant to the late Robert M'Kinnel, Esq. of M'Murdostown, for the long period of 46 years, and continued in his service till his death, which happened upwards of four years ago. She was greatly esteemed for her honesty and strict integrity; by his deed of settlement he bequeathed to her an yearly annuity, with a cottage and garden upon the property, during all the days of her life. At the request of her surviving relatives, it being her special desire, John M'Kinnel, Esq., nephew of her late master, officiated as chief mourner, and laid her head in the grave. At Maxwelltown, on the 15th inst., by the Rev. James Hamilton, of Newabbey, Captain Thomas Lookup, late of the Luna of this port, to Rebecca, eldest daughter of the late Walter Johnstone, Esq. of Thorniethwaite.

DEATHS.

At Barr, on the 12th inst., Bailie Wm. M'Minn of Wigtown – aged 44.

At Annan, on Friday, the 3d inst., Mr John Watson, teacher of English in the Academy there. During a period of nearly ten years he discharged the arduous duties of his profession with singular zeal and assiduity. Possessed of a naturally acute and vigorous understanding, he had bestowed no ordinary pains in storing it with the treasures of knowledge; and he possessed, what is a still rare qualification, the facility of communicating these with wonderful simplicity and precision. – While the public has thus been deprived of the services of a laborious and efficient instructor of youth, the community in which he resided, and more especially those who had the pleasure of his acquaintance, will not soon cease to regret the loss of one endeared to them by his many virtues, and whose heart was influenced by the most amiable sensibilities of our nature. Died, in action at Coorg, East Indies, on the 3d April last, Ensign Charles Douglas Babington, of the 31st Light Infantry, son of the Rev. Charles Babinton, Dumfries. At Colabah, on the 5th July last, Frances, daughter of the Rev. Joseph Laurie, Bombay. At Corberry-square, near Dumfries, on the 5th curt., Miss Jean Maxwell, in the 70th year of her age.

At Little Forest, in the parish of Rerwick, on the 5th inst., of consumption, Mr William Kinstray, tea-dealer, Abingdon, Berkshire, in the 26th year of his age. Mr Kinstray's mind was quite of an intellectual cast – his superior talents and extensive information might have qualified him for shining in a higher walk of life, and his amiable and engaging manners failed not to gain him the esteem of all who knew him.

At Bradford, Yorkshire, on the 1st inst., Robt. Gilchrist, draper. – aged 25. He was a most industrious sober young man, a native of Balmaclellan, Galloway.

Suddenly, at Boreland, parish of Kirkcowan, on the 9th inst., Robt. Murray, Esq. – aged 57.

24th December 1834

BIRTHS.

At Causeylands, on the 4th curt., Mrs John Hairstens, of a daughter.

Here, on Friday, the 12th instant, Mrs D. M'Dougall, of a daughter.

At 15, Charlotte Square, Edinburgh, on the 18th current, the lady of John Cunningham, Esq. of Duchrae, of a son and heir.

MARRIAGES.

At Kirkcudbright, by the Rev. Malcolm M'Lachlan, Castle-Douglas, Mr James Howat, to Miss Helen Clark, both of Maxwelltown.

DEATHS.

At Mabie, on Saturday, the 13th inst., Richard Howat, Esq. of Mabie.

At Albany Place, on Thursday, the 3d curt., Capt. Manuel.

Here, on Thursday last, Mrs Isabella Cuthbertson, spouse of James Primrose, Esq., tanner, aged 72.

At Penfillan, parish of Kier, on the 15th current, Mr Wm. Kirkpatrick, at the advanced age of 89 years. The respectability and number of the attendants at his funeral bespoke very forcibly the esteem cherished by all for so venerable a character – the patriarch it may be said of the narrow district in which he resided; and who dropped into the grave on Friday last, so full of years, piety, and blamelessness, as to excite the remark, that he formed not in appearance only, but in walk and conversation, one of the few remaining links of Scotland's covenanted heroes, from whom he was proud to trace his descent. At the Manse of Irongray, on the 15th inst., Isabella Fullarton, infant daughter of the Rev. Robert Crawford.

At Creebridge, Newton-Stewart, on the 5th inst., Eunice Moore, wife of the late James Sloane, Officer of Excise, and daughter of the late Hon. Deemster Thomas Moore, of Abbey, Isle of Man.

At Wigtown, on the 17th inst., Alexander Minnoch, Esq., surgeon there, aged 52. To excellent professional abilities Dr Minnoch added an unassuming demeanour, a kindness of heart, and a generosity of disposition, that gained him respect while in life, and makes his death sincerely regretted – particularly by the poorer classes, to whom he was always a succourer and a friend.

At Gelston Castle High Lodge, on the 14th instant, Helen Halliday, wife of William Stewart, butler there – after a long and lingering illness, borne with Christian patience and resignation, much and justly regretted by all who knew her, aged 40.

At Kirkcudbright, on the 4th inst., Agnes Christison, second daughter of Mr A.C. Donaldson, Rector of the Grammar School, in the 4th year of her age.

At Nethertown of Priestside, on the 11th current, at the advanced age of 92, Mr John Nicholson, farmer – a man of whom it may be truly said that he was a pattern of all that is excellent of the Scottish yeoman character of the olden school.

At Drumlanrig Castle, on the 11th curt., Mr Robert Anderson, wood forrester there, aged 78.

At Clarenceton, parish of Glencairn, on the 19th curt., Mary M'Roberts, wife of John Black of Clarenceton, aged 37 years. She has left 7 children to lament the loss of an industrious and affectionate mother.

At Newark, near Sanquhar, on the 17th instant, in the full retention of all her faculties till within a little of her decease, Grizel Lockie, in the 88th year of her age.

At Steine, in the Isle of Skye, Mrs M'Leod, relict of the late Major M'Leod, and only surviving daughter of the celebrated Flora and Captain Allan Macdonald, of the 84th regiment.

31st December 1834

BIRTHS.

At No. 3, Albany Street, Edinburgh, on the 16th current, Mrs Dr Murray of a daughter.
At Annan, on the 22d current, Mrs Nicholson, Port Street, of a son.

MARRIAGES.

At Annan, on the 22d current, Mr John Thomson, cattle-dealer, to Miss Nicholson, third daughter of the late Benjamin Nicholson, Esq., merchant there.

At Clunie, parish of Terregles, on the 29th curt., by the Rev. George Burnside, Mr David M'Keachie, to Helen, daughter of Mr Joseph M'Kittrick, miller, Glen-Mills.

On the 22d instant, at Burnside Cottage, Graitney Parish, by the Rev. J. Donaldson of Canonbie, Wm. Auchincloss, M.D., Glasgow, to Jemima Patricia, daughter of the late Rev. J. Morgan, Minister of the parish of Graitney.

At Edinburgh, on the 23d instant, by the Rev. Dr Gordon, William Francis Hunter Laurie, Esq., W.S., to Christina, daughter of the late Rev. K. Bayne, Minister in Greenock.

At Bishopwearmouth Church, Sunderland, Durham, Thomas Dalrymple, Esq., Stranraer, to Mary Eleanor, eldest daughter of William Haddock, ship-owner, Sunderland.

On the 22d inst., at St. George's Hanover square, London, Sir A. Malet, Bart., to Miss Spalding, daughter of Lady Brougham and Vaux. After the ceremony the newly married pair left for their seat, Wiltbury, Wilts.

On Thursday, the 4th instant, at St. Martin's Church, London, Henry Hunt, Esq., late M.P. for Preston, to Catherine Maria Ann, daughter of the late Major Vince, of Clift-hall, Wilts.

DEATHS.

At Palaceknow, Walter Scott, Esq. of Merrylaw, aged 78 years.

At Mawhanrick, on Saturday last, the 27th curt., in the 53d year of his age, Mr Wm. Thompson, farmer, deeply regretted by all who knew him. In every respect the deceased was what may be called a right character – sternly honest, truthful, neighbourly, hospitable, and kind – the friend of the poor, and the friend of human kind – who knew his place and kept it – and who, despising ambition, and the harvest of barren honours it brings, looked chiefly, if not solely, to advancement in those more upward influences which the world can neither give nor take away.

At Nether-Dalveen, on Tuesday, the 16th inst., John Harper, in the 91st year of his age. – His manners were unaffected, cheerful, and attractive – “his heart was generous and his soul sincere,” – his beneficence and liberality were only bounded by his rules of philosophical propriety, and his memory is embalmed in the recollections of his friends and extensive circle of his former acquaintances.

At Kirkbride, parish of Anwoth, on the 20th instant, Mary Porter, aged 72 years, wife of Mr Robert Grierson, farmer, Kirkbride.

At Gatehouse-of-Fleet, on the 23d instant, Mrs Isabella Hanning, aged 53 years, relict of Mr James Hanning, merchant there.

On the 16th instant, at Woburn Parsonage, Bedfordshire, after a lingering illness, borne with Christian fortitude and calm resignation, the Rev. Thomas Roy, aged 46. He was a watchful and affectionate pastor, and his singleness of heart, benevolent disposition, affability of deportment, and eminent attainments in literature, won and preserved the esteem and regard of a large circle of friends. The deceased was a native of Twynholm Village, near Kirkcudbright.

At Tobago, on the 21st October last, Mr James Johnstone, merchant, a native of Lockerby, Dumfries-shire. He was a young man of a highly cultivated mind, and great benevolence of disposition, and whose engaging manners, gained him the esteem and affection of a numerous circle of friends, by whom, and his sorrowing relations, his premature death is deeply lamented.

On Tuesday last, at Liverpool, Mr Edw. Scott, surgeon aged 27 years, a native of Ecclefechan, Dumfries-shire. Highly esteemed for his many virtues, his death has caused the deepest regret to his relatives and friends. After having successfully withstood for some months the unhealthy climate of the coast of Africa; he was so reduced by sickness during a protracted voyage home as to survive his arrival but a few days.

On Wednesday the 17th inst. at Tregothnan, aged 77, Henry Bankes, Esq., for many years representative in parliament for Corfe Castle and county of Dorset.

At his house in Liverpool, in his 80th year, General Freeman. He served the whole of the revolutionary war in America, and was aide-de-camp to General Fraser, at Saratoga.
