Birth, Marriage and Death Notices
Transcribed by Diana Henry and Robert Wells

7th January 1835

BIRTHS.

At Lotus House, on the 25th Dec., Mrs Major M'Kie, of a daughter.

At Greenhill Street, Glasgow, on the 1st instant, Mrs John Macharg, of a son.

At 5, Melville Street, Edinburgh, on the 30th Dec., the Lady of Horatio Ross, Esq., of Rossie, M.P., of a son and heir.

On the 23^d ult., at Ramsgate, the countess of Kinnoull, of a daughter.

At 1, Albyn Place, Edinburgh, on the 27th ult., the lady of James Crauford, Esq., advocate, of a daughter.

MARRIAGES.

At Tinwald House, by the Rev. George Greig, Wm. Finlay, master of the Elizabeth and Joanna of Dumfries, to Jean Kent.

At Maxwelltown, on the 30th ult., by the Rev. W. Dunlop, Mr Peter Milligan, saddler, Castle-Douglas, to Jane, second daughter of Mr J. M'Kay, manufacturer, Maxwelltown. Here, on the 29th ult., by the Rev. W. Dunlop, Mr William Scotland Raeburgh, smith, to Jane, daughter of the late B. Neilson, Sheriff-Officer.

At Sanquhar, on the 30th ult., by the Rev. Thomas Montgomery, Mr John Kerr, Crawick mill, to Miss Ann Hamilton, daughter of the late Captain Hamilton of that place.

At Maxwelltown, on the 26th ult., by the Rev. Dr Thomas Duncan, Mr Robert Steel, to Nancy Hope.

At Preston, near Cirencester, Mr Wm. Riddick, merchant, Cirencester, to Miss Emma Bullock, second daughter of the late Mr Thomas Bullock, Preston, Gloucestershire.

At Budleigh Salterton, on the 4th ultimo, John Manley, Esq., of Halberton, to Mary, relict of the late Rev. George Yelland. The bride we understand, is above 70 years of age, and has been led to the hymeneal alter by her fourth husband. Her first consort was J.

Lackington, Esq., who acquired so much celebrity as a bookseller, and built the Temple of the Muses, Finsbury Square, London.

DEATHS.

At Moffat, on the 29th ultimo, Mr George Tait, draper. – His dissolution was most sudden, and exemplified strikingly the well-known Scriptural saying – “in the midst of life we are in death.” While conversing with a gentleman in his own parlour, he expired in one moment without a groan or struggle of any kind. Had his frame been pierced by a poisoned arrow, or struck with lightning, the transition from life to death could not possibly have been more sudden.

At Raehills, near Langholm, on the 30th ult., Mr Robert Oliver, farmer there – a man justly endeared by his numerous good qualities, to an extensive circle of friends and neighbours.

At Woodhead, near Langholm on the 1st inst., Mr Thomas Lamb, an extensive sheep and cattle-dealer. – The sudden and lamented death of this young man, in the prime of life, has created an irreparable blank in the numerous circle of friend, who esteemed him no less for his modest and amiable disposition, than for his upright and honourable conduct as a dealer.

At London, on the 22^d ult., Mrs Wm. Gillies, in the 51st year of her age.

At Pimlico, London, on the 29th ult., Mr Robert Walker, late cabinet-maker in Dumfries, aged 47 years.

At Maxwelltown, on the 23^d ult., James Edgar, aged 70, for 22 years Collector of the Bridge Custom, much respected by all who knew him.

At Aberdeen, on the 24th December, Professor James Kidd, D.D.

At his House in Liverpool, in his 80th year, General Freeman. He served during the whole of the revolutionary war in America, and was aide-de-camp to General Fraser, at Saratoga.

On Wednesday, the 3^d ultimo, aged 69 years, the Rev. James Fleet Cover, Independent minister, Bolton. The deceased was the first Christian minister that preached the Gospel at Otaheite.

Same day, at Pesaro, the celebrated Cardinal Albard, apostolical legate of Urbino and Pesaro, after a long and painful illness. He was born at Rome on the 13th September, 1758, and was elevated to the rank of cardinal in 1820 by Pope Pius VII.

14th January 1835

BIRTHS.

At Annan, on the 4th inst., Mrs Dobbie, of a son.

At Dunfermline, on the 8th inst., Mrs Robert Beveridge, of a son.

At Garlieston, on the 7th inst., Mrs Cuthbert, of a daughter.

At No 50, Great King Street, Edinburgh, on the 8th inst., Mrs John Spence, of a son.

MARRIAGE.

At Salter's-Croft, Girvan, on the 5th inst., by the Rev. M. Leichman, Mr Robert Auslin, surgeon, Royal Navy, to Elizabeth, daughter of Houston Maxwell, Esq.

DEATHS.

At Dalton Manse, on the 5th inst., the Rev. Dr James Cririe.

At Maxwelltown, on the 3d inst., after a lengthened illness which she bore with much Christian patience and resignation, Mrs Agnes Cunningham, relict of Mr Wm. M'Meekin, senior of that place, deeply and deservedly regretted.

Here, on the 10th inst., Mrs Frances Armstrong, late of Cockermouth, Cumberland; she has left 5 fatherless and motherless children to lament their loss.

At Linburn, Dunscore, on the morning of Wednesday last, John Patterson, farmer there. – He was much respected through life, and his death will be long lamented by his family, and a numerous circle of friends and acquaintances.

At Whitehill, near Sanquhar, on the 7th inst., Mr Robert Slimmon, aged 70 years.

At Esk-Bank, James Jardine Johnston, son of Mr William Johnston, master of the Academy there, aged 5 years and 3 months.

At Thornhill, on the 9th inst., Mary Grierson, spouse of James Hepburn, merchant, aged 174.

At Newton-Stewart, on the 2d inst., Mrs Elizabeth, relict of Mr John Gilkison, aged 49 years.

At Kingston, Upper Canada, of cholera, Thomas Thomson, foreman, Royal Engineers, aged 39 years, son of David Thomson, stonemason, parish of Tongland, Scotland.

At 4, East Brougham Place, Edinburgh, on the 6th inst., in her 69th years, Agnes Russell, relict of Thomas Russell, schoolmaster, Chirnside, Berwickshire.

21st January 1835

NO BIRTHS

MARRIAGE.

On the 10th inst., at St. Lawrence Church, Hungerford, Berkshire, John Becks, Esq. of Langley and Standen, Wilts, to Julia Anne, eldest daughter of Captain Lidderdale, second son of the late Wm. Robertson Lidderdale, Esq. of Castlemilk, Dumfries-shire.

DEATHS.

Here, on the 14th inst., after a lingering illness, which she bore with Christian fortitude and resignation, Elizabeth Affleck, daughter of Robert Affleck, mason, in the 35th year of her age.

At Edinburgh, on the 12th inst., Miss Agnes Kirkpatrick, aged 96 years.

At Cargen Cottage, on Wednesday morning last, Susan Reid, spouse to James Dalziell, weaver there, deeply regretted by her friends and acquaintances.

At 27, Scotland Street, Edinburgh, on the 9th instant, Hugh Cowan, Esq., writer to the signet.

At Paris, on the 2d inst., Sir Wm. Kepple, the late friend and companion of George IV

NOTICE

All persons having CLAIMS against the late RICHARD WILLIAM PEACOCK, merchant in Dumfries, previously the date of the Trust Deed, granted by him on the 30th July, 1834, requested to lodge states thereof, within fourteen days from this date, in the hands of Mr John M'Kaig, merchant, the Trustee: or PRIMROSE & GORDON, writers, Dumfries. Those failing to do so will be excluded from any participation in the funds.

28th January 1835

BIRTHS.

At Port Maria, Jamaica, on the 22d November last, Mrs Simpson, of a daughter, still-born.

MARRIAGES.

At Annan, on Monday, the 26th inst., John Dickson, teacher of mathematics in the Academy, to Johanna Maria, eldest daughter of John Robert Irving, Esq. of Bonshaw.
At Sanquhar, on the 23d inst., by the Rev. Thomas Montgomery, Mr John Hair, mason, to Miss Susan M'Crone, daughter of Mr James M'Crone, Dean of Guild, Sanquhar.

DEATHS.

Here, on the 18th curt., at his sister's house, Assembly-street, Captain John Ewing, of the 24th Regiment, The deceased served 20 years in India, in which climate his health became impaired. His last station was Quebec, from which distant fortress he returned little more than five weeks ago, in the hope of deriving benefit from the invigorating breezes of his native hills; or failing such a blessing, that there might be persons near and dear to him to close his eyes, and deposit his remains in the place that gave him birth. The deceased was a quiet, inoffensive, honourable man, a skilful disciplinarian, and a good soldier. His funeral, which took place on Saturday, was at once numerously and most respectably attended; and what is remarkable, the coffin was borne shoulder high by the staff of the regiment in which he obtained his first commission, more than thirty years ago.

At Moniaive, on Saturday last, after a lingering illness, borne with becoming resignation, John, youngest son of the late Alexander Moffat, Esq. of Lochurr.

At Nithbank, Dumfries, on the 19th current, after a lingering illness, borne with the greatest fortitude and Christian resignation, Mrs Janet Johnston, deeply regretted by all who had an opportunity of appreciating her virtues.

At Glasgow, on the 13th current, Mrs Robert Wallace, eldest daughter of Mr William Bell, turner, Dumfries.

At Queensberry-street, here, on the 25th inst., Thomas Kennedy, aged 70, much and deservedly regretted by all who knew him.

At Port Maria, Jamaica, on the 23d November last, Mary Kay, wife of the Rev. John Simpson, Scottish missionary there.

At Woodside Road, near Glasgow, on the 4th inst., Eliza Thompson, only daughter of the late Rev. John Chamberlain, Scottish missionary at Port Maria, Jamaica.

At Barwhirran, near Wigtown, on Thursday, the 22d curt., aged 22, Eliza Beath, wife of Mr Charles Hannay, farmer there, deeply and deservedly lamented.

At Borland of Balmaghie, on the 16th curt., Mr Andrew Montgomery.

At Kells Manse, on the 22d cart [sic], Jessy Norvell, third daughter of the Rev. James Maitland.

At Lochrennie, Closeburn, on Monday, the 12th curt., Jean Cowan, wife of Mr John Dickson, at a very advanced age.

On the 19th inst., at the Secession Manse, Stranraer, the Rev. John Robertson, pastor of the First United Associate Congregation there, in the 61st year of his age, and 35th of his ministry.

At Georgetown, on the 15th inst., Mr John Smith late of Downsbank.

At No.5, Carrington Street [sic], May-Fair, London, on the 1st curt., of decline, Mr Augustus Beaublet, aged 23, one of the Buffo Brothers, who were lately performing here.

4th February 1835

BIRTH.

At Zofingen, Switzerland, on the 14th ult., the lady of Capt. G. J. Hope Johnstone, R.N., of a daughter.

MARRIAGES.

At Cherry Trees, on the 26th ult., by the Rev. Mr Wallace, Mr John Young, captain of the Sky Lark of Maryport, to Catherine, daughter of the late Mr William Glencross, Cherry Trees.

On the 22^d ult., by the Rev. Mr Muir, at Kirkmabreck farm, near Creetown, Mr Donald Briercliff, to Marion, daughter of Mr George Walker.

On the 16th ult., at Hazlefield, Rerwick, by the Rev. James Thomson, Mr John Hannah, Mill of Borgue, to Jane, daughter of Mr William Gordon, farmer there.

At Boston, United States, on the 6th December, James Gaspard Macder, Esq. Of Dublin, to Miss Clara Fisher, the celebrated actress.

On Wednesday, the 24th ult., at Twickenham, Moses Balty, to Emma Willcocks. The united ages of the happy couple amount to 150 years – the bridegroom being 72 and the bride 80. This is the fourth time she has been led to the Hymeneal altar; her grandson gave her away. She appeared to enjoy the mirth exceedingly, danced as gaily as a maid of sixteen, and sung several good songs.

The Rev. Mr Stevenson one night lately married two couples, whose united ages amounted exactly to 300 years. One of the youthful bridegrooms is unable to take off his own coat; and he was kindly assisted into the bridal bed by his fair partner. – Montrose Review.

DEATHS.

At Kirkcudbright, on the 25th ultimo, Mrs Barbara Reid, relict of John Thomson, Esq., Commissary of Kirkcudbright, aged 88 years.

At Worthing, on the 22^d ultimo, Mr Richard M'Whirter, son of Mr John M'Whirter, Lochmaben, aged 34. – He was engaged in the tea trade, and was universally respected by all persons with whom he came in contact. His general intelligence fitted him to fill a higher situation; but he was content to labour and labour diligently; and had health and lengthened years been granted, bade fair to return to his native country, possess of competence, if not independence. In politics he took the warmest interest, read every paper that came within his reach and even while looking beyond the grave inquired if Mr Hume had been returned for Middlesex. This question being answered in the affirmative he simply said "then I am happy" and never spoke of politics more.

Here, on the 28th ult., Margaret Wilson, wife of Mr John Clerk, mason, aged 84. At East Glen, Newabbey, on the 23^d ult., Joseph Wright, aged 61, much regretted. On the 18th ult., at Littleton, Borgue, in his 68th year, Mr John Brown, who was highly respected by his numerous friends and acquaintances.

On Wednesday, the 14th ult., after a long illness, Mrs Margaret Walsh, wife of Mr B. Walsh, artist, 4, St. Andrew's Square, Edinburgh. She was an exemplary Christian, fearing God above many. Possessed of considerable talent and deep piety, she has, for many years, with great stability and zeal, humility and discretion, pursued a course of active and laborious usefulness. The poor found in her a friend, whose sympathies and exertions were awakened by and directed to the relief of their temporal necessities and spiritual destitution. During eleven years, she visited the prisoners in the Calton Jail, assiduously labouring to promote in them the formation of habits of industrious occupation and to advance their moral improvement. In the Infirmary she found another scene of benevolent and pious exertion, where many of the female patients welcomed with gladness her judicious councils. She was also a visitor of the Magdalen Asylum and of the Poor House. In short, it may be aid of her, that she "went about doing good;" her's [sic] was a sincere, humble, cheerful, active, and diffusive piety. She was a member of the Wesleyan Methodist Church in Nicolson's Square, but was well known to and possessed the friendship of many of the good and pious in other communions. Her memory is blessed; she rests from her labours and her works follow her. [This lady addressed a large congregation in the Methodist Chapel, Dumfries, some years ago, when many who went greatly prejudiced against females speaking in public, were in tears before she had well begun.]

DEATH OF AN OLD SPORTSMAN. – On New-Year's Day, at Glynde, William Gorringe, aged 89 years. He had followed the sports of the field for upwards of 60 years. He usually hunted on foot, and has many a time and oft beaten the best horses in the field. This veteran sportsman was huntsman for a long period to the Glynde harriers; he was also an excellent shot, and gamekeeper to the late Lord Viscount Hampden. – Brighton Papers.

11th February 1835

NO BIRTHS.

MARRIAGES.

At Newton-Stewart, on the 27th ult., by the Rev. Samuel Richardson, Mr Robert Young, farmer, Orchardton, parish of Sorbie, to Miss Mary Warwick, Newton-Stewart, parish of Penninghame.

On Thursday, the 25th ult., at Wemyss-hall, William Henry Fielden, Esq., 17th Lancers, eldest son of William Fielden, Esq., M.P. of Feniscowles, to Mary Elizabeth, daughter of the late Colonel Wemyss, of Wemyss-hall.

DEATHS.

At the Manse of Kirkmichael, Presbytery of Dumfries, on the 6th instant, the Rev. James Smail, of that parish, in the 65th year of his ministry.

At the Manse of Urr, Presbytery of Dumfries, on the 8th curt., the Rev. John M'Whir, of that parish, in the 26th year of his ministry.

At Arundale, Troqueer, on the 30th ult., Miss Jane Smith, last surviving daughter of the late Patrick Smith, Esq., Craigshaws.

At Kirkblain, Carlaverock, on the 4th instant, Archibald Wilkin, Esq., Surgeon, aged 23 years.

On the 23^d ult., Janet Gibson, spouse of William Armstrong, Esq., of South Craigs.

At same place, on the 3^d inst., Janet Hairstens, relict of William Bryden, in the 75th year of her age.

At Hamilton, Upper Canada, on the 8th December last, aged 26, John Weir, Esq., eldest son of Mr William Weir, Troon, Ayrshire,. Endowed with the most amiable disposition, and talents for business of a high order, he had endeared himself to an extensive circle of friends in this country, when about 7 years ago he was called to a place of trust in Montreal, where he continued for 4 or 5 years. He subsequently removed to Hamilton, where in business on his own account he was rapidly rising to eminence and universal respect. He was followed to the grave by about 300 sorrowing friends, and all the store-houses were closed during the melancholy procession, as a last tribute of respect for departed worth. As a son he was most dutiful and affectionate, as a brother most kind and considerate, and as a friend the sorrow caused by his death affords the best testimony to his value while he lived. An old school fellow and close companion offers this passing tribute to his memory.

18th February 1835

Mr Lowther several years ago selected a place in Dornock church-yard, near Annan, for his burial place, and erected a tomb-stone over the spot, containing the usual inscription, with the exception of the date of his death, and in that situation it has been standing ever since.

25th February 1835

BIRTH.

On the 11th inst., in Edward-street, Portman-square, London, the lady of John Malcolm, Esq., of a son.

MARRIAGES.

At Stewarton, parish of Kirkinner, on the 10th inst., by the Rev. James Reid, Mr Alexander M'Cormick, farmer in Kirwaugh, to Elizabeth, daughter of Mr John Greenshields, farmer in Stewarton.

At Castle-Douglas, on the 18th curt., by the Rev. Alexander Crosbie, John Sheddon, Esq., Paisley, to Jessie W. Law, second daughter of the late Mr Robert Law, clock and watchmaker, Castle-Douglas.

At St. Mary's church, Carlisle, on the 18th inst., Mr John Carruthers, agent for the Carlisle and Liverpool Steam Navigation Company, to Miss Hornsby, of Castle Street there.

DEATHS.

At Newabbey, on the 16th current, Mr William Maxwell, aged 78 years.

At Troqueer Gate, on the 20th inst., Alexander, eldest son of John M'Curty, Billbow, Troqueer.

Here, on the 22^d curt., of small-pox, in his 15th year, Edward, second son of Mr David Weild, joiner, and apprentice to J. Wood, druggist. – The deceased was a very promising youth, of an amiable disposition, and good moral principles, and his premature death is deeply regretted by all who knew him.

At Mains of Kelton, on the 15th inst., William M'Gowan, aged 84 years, much and justly regretted by a large circle of friends and acquaintances.

At Girvan, Ayrshire, on the 17th instant, in consequence of the rupture of a blood-vessel, Mr John Wilson, student in theology, and schoolmaster of that parish – a young man of no ordinary talents and attainments, especially in classical literature,. He was a native of the parish of Lochrutton, and after receiving his preparatory education partly from his father, parochial teacher there, and partly at the Academy of Dumfries, he became a student of the University of St. Andrews, where he distinguished himself by his superior abilities, carried off the highest prizes in his classes, and attracted the favourable notice of the Professors – some of whom, especially Dr Gillespie and Dr Jackson, subsequently honoured him with their warm and active friendship. He was for several years employed as principal assistant in the English school of St. Andrews, and afterwards, in a similar capacity, in the classical department of Ayr Academy. Some months ago he was appointed master of the extensive and lucrative school of Girvan, and the ardour with which he entered on his laborious duties there proved fatal to his constitution, which was not naturally robust. His amiable dispositions, his example, his exemplary conduct, and modest deportment, endeared him to all who knew him; and while they deplored his premature decease, they also regret the disappointment of the hopes, which his high talents led them to entertain, of his rising to eminence, and adding another to the literary names by which his native district, Galloway, is already adorned.

At Morant Bay, on the 5th December last, Douglas Berwick, son of the late Newall Berwick, Phillips-field pen, Jamaica.

On the 14th inst., at her house, in Edward-street, Portman-square, London, in the 97th year of her age, the Honourable Catherine Fraser, relict of Lieutenant-General Fraser, of Castle Doony, Master of Lovat, the eldest son of Simon Lord Lovat, executed in 1745. When staying at Castle Doony, the tenants there brought forth to Mrs Fraser several hampers of plate which they had buried in the year 1745.

At Hobart Town, Van Diemen's Land, on the 17th October last, Mr Robert Johnstone, D.A. Commissary General, aged 39. Mr Johnstone was a native of Lockerby, Dumfriesshire.

He served during the Peninsular war, afterwards in Holland, Belgium, at Waterloo, and the Army of Occupation, subsequently at the Cape of Good Hope. He was highly respected, and died as he lived, the noblest work of God, "an honest man." He was interred in the Presbyterian burial ground on Thursday, the 9th, with military honours.

His Excellency the Lieut.-General and all the military and staff officers, with a large assemblage of the public authorities and others attended the funeral. Scotia may deplore the loss of many of her sons before one more worthy will be enumerated.

At the age of 20 he enlisted, and was a soldier for 28 years; and at the famous battle of Bunker's-hill, Aaron received a wound from the same shot which wounded Major Shuttleworth, of Hathersage. Till within a few months of his death he enjoyed good health, and all his faculties, nearly to the last.

We are required to contradict the announcement of the marriage of Mr John Rickerby, draper and tea-dealer, Birmingham, to Miss Amelia M'Gregor, of Glasgow, which appeared in the Courier of the 8th ult., - no such event having taken place. The announcement in question was transmitted to us in a letter bearing the Birmingham post mark of the 29th March; and would doubtless be considered a rare hoax by its pitiful perpetrator. We have, however, only one feeling for persons so base as to make the courtesy of the Press the vehicle of private spleen and public mis-statement, and carry pain into the domestic circle, and that is a feeling of ineffable contempt and detestation; and right glad would we be to hold forth to the scorn all men the name of one so odious.

On Wednesday, the 20th ult., at East Cowes Castle, Isle of Wight, Mr Nash, the celebrated architect.

The Rhode-Island (U.S.) papers announce the death, on Monday, 20th April of Samuel Slater, Esq. – long known as one of the most enterprising and respected citizens of that State, and as the father of the cotton manufacturing business in this country. The first cotton-mill built in the United States were erected by him, in Pawtuket. Capt. Kater, is among the recent losses which the country has sustained. He was in the prime of life.

The celebrated engraver, Giovita Caraviglia, died at Florence on the 27th April. He surpassed even Morghen, his Master – had scarcely attained his 45th year, and was carried off while engaged in his finest work the Assumption, by Guido.

In the Bombay Presidency, in January last, Robt. C. Money, Esq., in the Civil Service of the Honourable East India Company. By the death of this excellent young man, the Service to which he belonged has lost one of its brightest ornaments and society a most valuable member. Sent at an early age to India, Mr Money soon distinguished himself as an oriental scholar, and his knowledge of Hindostanee [sic] in particular, acquired him the friendship of many of the most distinguished natives of that country, by whom he was allowed to speak their language in great purity. During his residence in Bombay his mind was actively engaged in the promotion of education among the natives, and for some time he held, in addition to his official appointment, the honourable situation of Secretary to the Bombay Native Educational Society, an Institution which derived much benefit from his unremitting exertions in its behalf. It was his constant practice for some years past, particularly on the Sundays, and frequently during other days of the week, to be engaged with parties of the natives to whom he read the Bible and explained the truths contained in the pages of that sacred volume. His piety was sincere and unaffected, and his anxiety to communicate the knowledge which he possessed of his Saviour, to the benighted heathens by whom he was surrounded was extreme. A few years ago, assisted by the Rev. Mr Wilson, a missionary, and some other gentlemen, who thought and felt as he did, Mr Money succeeded in stablishing a Magazine at Bombay entirely devoted to religious purposes, to the pages of this publication he contributed valuable papers. He lived in the practice of all the duties which adorn the character of a true Christian, and in particular, was constant in his attention to the duties of family worship. In our own country this important service is but too much neglected, and in a distant land, like India, it is, we fear, of still rarer occurrencee (sic). A short time previous to his lamented death, Mr Money was promoted to a higher situation in the Service, at a station some distance from Bombay, and on his route to take possession of his new appointment, in passing through the jungle, he caught the fever peculiar to the marshy and wooded districts of India, which in a few dayt [sic] closed his life of usefulness. No man was more beloved in the Service to which he belonged, and none will be more sincerely regretted, not by his own countrymen alone, but also by many of the natives of India, by whom he was known and respected. It is no light consideration to his relatives and friends, to know that few individuals in any country are better prepared to meet their God, and few thus early called have led a life of more usefulness than he did. Mr Money was the second son of the late William T. Money, Esq., Consul General at Venice, and son-in-law of the Rev. James Gray, late Chaplain to the Honourable East India Company at Bhooj.

10th June 1835

At Paisley, on the 2d inst. by the Rev. James Begg, Duncan Alex. Campell, Esq. distiller in Greenock, to Sarah, eldest daughter of the late John Macfarlane, Esq. of the latter place. In Candia, Mr Samuel Woodman, to Miss Sally Woodman. They had previously lived together in the married state for nearly thirty years. At the last term of the Supreme Court, the wife's petition for a divorce, on account of the husband's extreme cruelty, was presented, the charges proved, and a bill of divorce granted. A new courtship commenced – the hatchet was buried; and the fond couple, too impatient to abide "law's delay" of a fortnight, for the usual punishment, repaired incontinently to a magistrate, who united the ardent lover and the blushing bride.

DEATHS.

At Curriestanes. On the 3d inst., Jemima, daughter of the Rev. Wm. Menzies, East Parish, Greenock, aged 11 months.

At Annan, on the 4th inst., in the prime of life, Joseph Wells, plasterer. He was a native of Lochmaben – his loss is deeply regretted, and his memory will long be cherished by a numerous circle of friends and acquaintances.

At Upper Craigenputtock, on the 8th inst, Mr Robert M'Adam.

At 12, Royal Circus, Edinburgh, on the 9th inst., Martha Harriet, infant daughter of Wm. Y. Herries, Esq. of Spottes.

Suddenly, at Glasgow, on the 30th ult., on his way to Leamington, Charles Gordon, Esq., wine-merchant, Provost of Forres.

At his house, North Hanover Street, Glasgow, on the 4th inst., Robert Thomson, Esq., one of the Town Clerks of the City of Glasgow.

On Sunday, the 31st ult., at his house in Blandford Square, London, William Smith, Esq., formerly one of the representatives for the city of Norwich. The integrity of his conduct during forty-six years' service in the Parliament, and his consistency in maintaining the principles of civil and religious liberty during a period so trying and eventful, will entitle his name to an honourable place in the list of those who have lived for the benefit of their country and mankind.

24th June 1835

BIRTH.

Here, yesterday (Monday), Mrs A. W. M'Master, of a son.

MARRIAGES.

In Irish Street, on the 9th inst., by the Rev. R. Wallace, John Jackson, Esq., writer, to Jane, only daughter of James M'Robert, Esq., one of the Masters of the Academy here.

At Sheffield, on the 22d inst., Mr Wm. M'Nay, tea dealer of Newcastle-under-Lyne, third son of the late David M'Nay of Balbasie, near Creetown, to Miss Rennie of Sheffield, Yorkshire.

DEATHS.

Here, on Wednesday last, Ann Denholm, relict of John Gray, Esq., Ladylands.

At Westerkirk on the 22d inst., Mr James Fairbairn, farmer there, and factor to Sir Frederick Johnstone, Bart. The deceased was remarkable for a strong and vigorous understanding, original thinking, an unexhaustible [sic] stock of anecdote, a proper mastery over the Scotch dialect, and its most expressive phraseology, which, with a rich fund of humour entirely his own, made his conversation delightful, and his company courted by all who knew him. He will be long regretted as an able farmer, a kind and obliging neighbour, and a charitable and good man.

At Broomholm, on the 24th inst., David Maxwell, Esq. of Broomholm.

At Kinharvie House, Newabbey, upon the 28th curt., Geo. J. Johnstone, son of the late William Johnston, his Majesty's Attorney General for Prince Edward's Islands.

At Annan, on the 16th curt., Mrs Margaret Byers, spouse of Mr Francis Smith, gardener there, at an advanced age.

On 20th April last, on board his Majesty's ship, Fair Rosamond, at Assension [sic] Bay, John Hunter, aged 20 years, son of Mr James Hunter, mail guard, Carlisle, and late of the Portpatrick mail, Dumfries. The deceased was a young man of activity and fair promise, and his early loss is deeply lamented by his friends.

At the house of Mr Thomas Redpath, Croalchapple, Closeburn, on the 26th ult., by the Rev. Andrew Bennet, Mr Chas. M'Kiag, [sic] Closeburn Miln, to Miss Mary M'Gowan.

DEATHS.

At Tinwald-Downs, on the 3^d curt., to the deep regret of all who knew him, Mr George M. Welsh, grocer, Dumfries, aged 25. The deceased had been in business on his own account for about two years, and never was there a young tradesman that gave fairer promise of that somewhat rare quality commonly called "rising the world." His manner was excellent, his industry untiring, his principles most sound, and his natural disposition so obliging, that he gradually drew around him so many friends, that competence, if not fortune, appeared to be contingent on lengthened days. Perhaps no youth of the same standing ever passed through life that had less to regret; but where others saw nothing but blamelessness and worth, he himself accounted abstinence from guilt a mere negation, and centered [sic] every hope in the merits and atonement of a gracious Redeemer.

At Annan, on the 3d inst., Mrs Lidderdale, much respected.

At Stranraer, on the 29th ult., Mr Anthony M'Gowan, saddler, aged 44.

At Johnstone Schoolhouse, on Friday, the 26th ult., Maryanne Richardson Smith, relict of the late Mr James Smith, merchant, Lochmaben.

At Holestane, Durrisdeer, on the 21st ultimo, Mrs Margaret Graham, spouse of Mr William Graham, of the former place.

At Cumston Mains, near Kirkcudbright, on the 23d ult., after a tedious illness, Robert, eldest son of the late Mr Wm. Houston – a young man of great promise, and much respected.

On the 28th ult., after a lingering illness, at Laghead, near Gatehouse-of-Fleet, Mr James Kelly, aged 75. He was one of those rare individuals who, during a lengthened span, uniformly followed the golden rule of doing unto others as he could wish to be done by; was kind hearted, generous, and humane; an obliging neighbour, a steady friend, and charitable to the poor, without the slightest ostentation. He possessed good natural abilities, great strength and sterling independence of mind, a clear understanding, extraordinary shrewdness of observation, and unyielding integrity of principle. Few men have descended into the dark and narrow house, who were more truly beloved by their families, or more generally and sincerely lamented by their friends and neighbours.

In Van Dieman's Land, in January, last, John eldest son of the Rev. Walter Dunlop, aged 27. His friends will be pleased to receive this notification.

At Hosley Bank, Wrexham, on Sunday 28th ult., Henry Ker, second son of William Dobie, Esq., Surgeon, aged three years.

At London, on the 22d ult., Mr James Smith, aged 24. The deceased was a promising young man, a native of Trailltrow, in the parish of Cummertrees, which place he left only three weeks ago for the English metropolis. His premature death has cast a gloom on the whole circle of his acquaintances, to whom he was endeared by many a social tie.

At Liverpool, on the 29th ult., Isabella, eldest daughter of Captain Hugh Mackay, 92d Highlanders.

15th July 1835

BIRTH.

The hereditary Prince of Tuscany, born in the early part of last month, was baptized on the 11th by the Archbishop of Florence. The Austrian Ambassador stood sponsor in the name of the Emperor. He received the name of Ferdinand-sauveur-Marie-Joseph-Jean-Baptiste-Francois-Louis-Gonzague-Raphael-Revnier-Janvier!!!

MARRIAGES.

At Barcloy Mill, by the Rev. Andrew M'Culloch, on the 23d ultimo, Captain Thomas Loudon Murdoch, of the Brig Reform, Dumfries, to Miss Sarah Brown.

At Sanquhar, on the 8th inst., by the Rev. James Reid, Mr Gilbert Ritchie, farmer, Eastside, Kirkconnel, to Miss Elizabeth, eldest daughter of William Kerr, Esq., Sanquhar. The sage bridegroom is a widower to the tune of 76, the buxom and blooming bride lags nearly a half behind in the silent march of years; but why should querulous gossips meddle in the matter; a man has a right to make himself comfortable at any period of life.

On Sunday week, at St. Philip's Church, Liverpool, Mr Francis Napier, printer, to Miss Catherine Mackey.

Lately, at St Patrick's Chapel, Toxteth-park, and afterwards at Formby Church, Mr L. Formby, aged 94, to Mrs Ratcliffe, aged 84.

On the 30th ult., at St. James's Church, London, Sir Harry Verney, Bart, M.P. for Buckingham, son of the late General Sir Harry Calvert, to Eliza, daughter of the late Admiral Sir George Hope, and of the hon. Lady Hope, sister of the late Lord Kinnaird.

DEATHS.

Here, on Thursday last, Mr Alexander Welsh, shoemaker, aged 62.

Here, on the 11th inst., in St. Michael's Street, and formerly in the farm of Parkgate, Mr Wm. M'Clure, in his eightieth year, much regretted by all who had the pleasure of his acquaintance, as a man of strict integrity, amiable manners, and sincere piety.

At Miltonis, parish of Newluce, on the 27th ult., Mr Gilbert M'Ilwrick, aged 76 – a man of great integrity, and much respected.

At Annan, on the morning of the 8th inst., Thomas Rule, late merchant there.

At Richibucto, New Brunswick, on the 3d of April last, sincerely regretted by all who knew her, Susan M'Dowall, wife to the Rev. Jas. Hannay, minister of St. Andrew's Church, Richibucto.

At Loaningfoot, Kirkbean, Ebenezer Black, schoolmaster. During the short period of his labours in this parish, Mr Black evinced a degree of talent and energy as a teacher, which excited the admiration of all who were capable of appreciating these high qualifications, and procured for him the respect and affection of his pupils. From his having long contemplated death with a Christian's faith and hope, he submitted to his sufferings with a patience and resignation which could not be surpassed, and which could only be regarded as the certain harbinger of the Christian's reward.

At Sanquhar, Dumfries-shire, on the 3d curt., after a short illness, John Ballantine, son of Mr Archibald Livingston, writer in Glasgow.

At Newcastle, Miss Collingwood, last surviving sister of Admiral Lord Collingwood.

At Oldhall, near Paisley, on the 1st inst., George Baird, Esq., the celebrated Renfrewshire agriculturist.

22nd July 1835

BIRTH.

On the 28th May, Mrs Frances Ann Butler, late Kemble, was safely delivered of a daughter, at her residence in the neighbourhood of Philadelphia.

MARRIAGES.

At No 3, Cheyne-street, Edinburgh, upon Monday, the 13th current, by the Rev. Mr Macfarlane of St. Bernard's, Adam Dinwoodie, Esq., Comptroller of Customs at Poulton-le-Fylde, Lancashire, to Ellen Blackstock, second daughter of Mr Wm. Carson, writer.

At the Manse of New Monkland, on the 9th inst., Mathew Nisbet, M.D., surgeon, Honourable East India Company's Service, to Mary, youngest daughter of the Rev. James Begg, D.D., minister of that parish.

At Edinburgh, on the 14th instant, Mr James Simpson, accountant, to Lillas, only daughter of William Davies, Hope Park.

On the 7th instant, at St. Marylebone Church, London, Winthrop Praed, Esq., M.P, to Helen, youngest daughter of the late George Bogle, Esq.

DEATHS.

In Burns' Street, Dumfries, on the 16th current, Mrs Ann Burns, aged 63, wife of Mr Robert Burns, retired Officer of Somerset House, and eldest son of the Bard. The deceased died in the same house, and will be interred in the Mausoleum, where lie the remains of her great relative.

At Rosefield, Troqueer, on the 16th curt., Alexander, youngest son of Alex. Young, Esq., Procurator-Fiscal for the County of Dumfries.

At Southerness, on the 17th inst., Margaret, infant daughter of Mr Walter Duncan, druggist here.

At Bladnoch, on the 12th inst., of an inflammatory attack, to which she was subject, Mrs Margaret Broadfoot, the beloved wife of Mr Thomas M'Clelland, distiller. Dutiful and affectionate as a wife, and tender and indulgent [sic] as a mother, she was no less respected and esteemed in all the relations of life, than her piety as a Christian was characterised by devotion and sincerity. Prematurely cut off in the very prime of life, and from amongst a young and interesting family, her death has cast a gloom over an extensive circle of friends and acquaintances, by whom her memory will long be cherished. In reference to her, it may truly be said, that –
“To-day we bloom – to-morrow die.”

At Whithorn, on the 14th inst., Alexander Sloane, Esq., lately of New Orleans. Inbued with the native ardour and enthusiasm of his countrymen, he at an early age went forth in search of fortunes favouring gale, and, after enduring the perils and vicissitudes of an inhospitable clime, in the honourable and successful prosecution of commercial enterprise, he returned a few years ago to his native town, where his suavity of manners, and gentlemanly deportment, gained him universal esteem. But with him also returned an impaired constitution, for which neither this climate, nor that which he left, proved congenial; and to the unexpressible [sic] regret of all who knew him, and after much suffering, which he bore with Christian fortitude, he, on Monday last, calmly and tranquilly resigned his soul to God who gave it.

At Morant Bay, Jamaica, on the 4th October, John Peter, only son of Charles Scott, Esq., aged 21. He was educated in this country, where he endeared himself to all who knew him by the amiableness of his dispositions, and the correctness of his conduct. His early death has been deeply regretted by his friends, whose only but unspeakable consolation it is to know that he died with the peace and hope of a Christian.

30th December 1835

On the 19th inst., at East Thorn, near Falkirk, William Cowbrough, Esq., in his 94th year, much regretted for his usefulness as a Justice of the Peace, which duties he had discharged with the greatest impartiality and satisfaction for more than half a century.

At Glasgow, after a short illness, Brevet-Major Hill, of the 96th Regiment of foot, at present stationed in that city.

DEATH OF SIR COLQUHOUN GRANT. – We regret to have to announce the death of Lieutenant-General Sir Colquhoun Grant, K.C.B. and G.C.H., which took place at Frampton, in Dorsetshire, on Sunday. Sir Colquhoun was in his 73^d year, and the disease of which he died was dropsy in the chest. His daughter, and son-in-law, Mr Sheridan, were with him in his last moments, and tended him with assiduity and affection. Sir C. Grant entered the army as an ensign in September, 1793. He was wounded at the battle of Sahagun, where the 15th greatly distinguished itself under Lord Anglesea. He embarked for Spain in January, 1813, and commanded the Hussar brigade at the action of Morales; he was present also at the battle of Victoria, and served during the remainder of the Spanish campaign. On the 4th of June, 1814, he received the brevet of Major-General, and commanded a brigade at Waterloo, on which memorable day he had five horses shot or killed during the battle.
