At her home, Loreburn Street, Dumfries, on Sunday the 22d inst., advanced in years, Mrs Crosbie, relict of Mr John Crosbie, merchant. Our obituary has never, we are confident, been the vehicle of announcing the demise of a worthier woman than Mrs Crosbie. She retained the business of her husband from the time of his death, now many years ago, and so long as the decaying strength of increasing years enabled her, attended to it with all possible application. Her unobtrusive and obliging disposition converted almost every customer into a well wishing friend; and to her own private acquaintances her kindness and hearty homeliness endeared her in a high degree.

At Dumfries, on Tuesday, the 10th inst., aged 25 years, Miss Mary B. M. Johnstone, youngest daughter of the late George Johnstone, Esq., of the Bombay Medical Service.
