At Merslaugh, parish of Kirkcolm, on the 31st ultimo, in the 17th year of her age, Agnes, youngest daughter of Mr M'Meikan, farmer there. The deceased was an early and anxious inquirer after "the new and living way" and as the morning of life advanced, became conspicuous for all those virtues which adorn female character, and render the sex an ornament to society. Sorrowing relatives may console themselves with the well-grounded hope that such are not lost, but removed, or perhaps taken from the evil to come.

At Portmullin, parish of Kirkcolm, on the 1st instant, at the advanced age of 92, Mr Andrew Kerr, farmer there. The deceased had been an elder of the Established Church in Kirkcolm, for something more than the long period of 60 years, and has acted as a member of session, in conjunction with three successive ministers - although the incumbency of the two former clergymen extended over a period of 109 years! The protracted evening of life, which has now calmly terminated, was happily cheered and soothed by the assiduous attentions of an only surviving widowed daughter. 'Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright, for the end of that man is peace.'

On 31st ultimo, at 3, Norfolk Street, London, of consumption, Mr John M'Keand, aged 35. His death will be deeply lamented by a circle of friends and relations. He was a kind and affectionate brother, and respected by all who knew him. Friends will please accept this intimation.

DEATH OF GENERAL THE HON. SIR ALEXANDER DUFF, G.C.H. -

We are sorry to be called upon to announce the demise of this distinguished officer, who expired on Friday at his suburban resident, Percy Cross, near Fulham. The deceased was second son of the third Earl of Fife, and brother of the present Peer, to whom he was heir presumptive. The gallant General had seen some active service during his career, having entered the army as Ensign in the 66th foot, in 1793. In 1818 the officers of the 88th, or Connaught Rangers, presented him with a most valuable sword, in testimony of their respect and regard.
