At Knocktimn, parish of Kirkcolm, on Tuesday, the 30th ult., Mr William Kennedy, farmer there, aged 49 years. A man of quiet unobtrusive manner, he during many years of delicate health gave himself to reading, and to the work of preparation for death. Seldom have we known a man, moving in the same sphere, possessed of a more enlightened understanding, or of a heart, influenced by higher principles. An admirer of the writings of Dr. Chalmers, he was intimately acquainted with his Treaties and Evidenced of Christianity. Anxious for the spiritual independence of the church, he in 1843 cast in his lot with those who in his native parish left the Establishment; and now that he has been removed by death, his family must have sustained a severe bereavement, and the Free Church one of its most devoted members and supporters. - Communicated by a Clergyman.
